CITY'S LAST SAY ABOUT VIADUCT

Unanimous Report Agreed Upon by Railroad Committee.

Committeemen Declare That This Is the Last Stand of the City, and They Expect Council to Adopt Their Report.

An ordinance regarding the Washington street viaduct and the terminal improvements that the Louisville and Nashville and other railroads desire making in the vicinity of Washington street and Central avenue was decided upon yesterday afternoon during the session of the special committee, of which Councilman Amorous is chairman, and it will be presented for adoption during the special meeting of council next Monday afternoon.

The committee has approved of its ordinance and taken a stand. It is the final one, they declare, that is if the general council adopts the measure. In the event that the terms of the ordinance are displeasing to President M. H. Smith, of the Louisville and Nashville, or to other interested railroad officials, negotiations will then be at an end and arrangements for the construction of the Washington street viaduct and for the building of the terminal improvements by the railroads will cease, so far as any concessions from the city are concerned.

If the general council is of the opinion that the provisions of the ordinance are not sufficiently favorable to the city it will probably be referred to the committee with the request that changes be made. It is generally believed, however, that the measure that will be reported upon by the committee will be adopted.

The committee met yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the office of Mayor Howell and shortly after 5 o'clock made a unanimous report.

THE ERUPTION NOT SERIOUS.

No Damage Done by Disturbance of Mont Pelee.

Fort de France, Island of Martinique, Thursday, October 6—(Delayed in Transmission.)—The report that there has been a serious eruption of Mont Pelee is not true. There has been great activity on the mountain during the last few days, and a week ago the volcano emitted enormous quantities of steam and ashes.

On September 29 the mountain was throwing out steam all day, forming a dense cloud eight or ten thousand feet high. The escape grew less violent as night approached, but after dark there were two points on the cone that were brilliantly lighted, while at the foot of the dome was a hole from which fire escaped into the valley below, but not in sufficient quantities to occasion damage.

CABINET PLACE FOR E. L. RUSSELL

Vice President of Railroad May Secure High Position.

Rumored That Judge Parker Will Tender Cabinet Position to the Vice President of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad.

Jackson, Miss., October 7.—(Special.)—Much interest is manifested throughout Mississippi in the rumor that Colonel E. L. Russell, vice president of the Mobile and Ohio railroad, may be tendered a position in the cabinet in event Judge Parker is elected.

If the democratic ticket is successful, Colonel Russell could secure the solid indorsment of the Mississippi democrats for a cabinet berth, as he is highly popular throughout the state.

MESSAGE CAME JUST TOO LATE

Savannah People Could Not Appear Before Railroad Commission.

Savannah, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Mayor Myers was today notified that the railroad company would give Savannah a hearing in the matter of freight rates Friday too late for a committee to have arranged to reach Atlanta today. The telegram was received about 6 o'clock last evening too late for a committee to reach Atlanta this morning.

The following telegram was sent the commission:

"Savannah requests a hearing by your body before circulars 301 and 30 become effective, or they be so amended that Savannah receive the same advantage in reductions and equalization of rates as Atlanta enjoys under those orders. Will be pleased to avail ourselves of a hearing any day you may name next week."

CITY'S LAST PROPOSAL FOR THE NEW VIADUCT

THE proposed ordinance prepared by the special committee of council, providing for the Washington street viaduct, which has been submitted to President Smith, of the Louisville and Nashville, follows:

An ordinance, providing for the changing and alteration of the present location of Waverly place by removing the same so that the south line thereof will be approximately 174.8 feet north from the northeast corner of Central avenue and Hunter street and 170.9 feet north of the northwest corner of Washington and Hunter streets, and for abandoning the present site of said Waverly place; and also providing for a right-of-way for the construction of a viaduct from Washington street to Collins street over the property known as the Georgia railroad yards, and also providing for certain changes in structures over Piedmont avenue and Butler street, and certain changes in structures over and changing of grade of Grant street, and authorizing, under certain conditions, the placing of tracks, etc., on Washington street to the north line of Waverly place as changed; and also providing for the exchange of lots for fire engine house and the construction of a new house upon the lot received in exchange by the city of Atlanta, and for other purposes:

Whereas, The property on both sides of Waverly place as now located, except the lot known as the engine house lot of the city of Atlanta, is owned or controlled by the railroad companies hereinafter refered to, and

Whereas, Said railroad companies own all the property upon which the proposed change would place said Waverly place, as well as the property abutting on both sides thereof, and

Whereas, It will greatly promote the interests of the city of Atlanta and of the citizens of the said city to secure a right-of-way over the railroad yards for the purpose of building a viaduct connecting the north end of Washington street above and over said yards directly with Collins street and a system of streets on the north side of said railroad tracks, and

Whereas, The said property owners so abutting on Waverly place are willing that said street should be altered and changed as herein shown, and

Whereas, The city of Atlanta desires to make said change and deems it for the best interests of the public that the same should be made, and in connection therewith can secure the property for making said change and the work necessary to accomplish it without expense to the city, and

Whereas, In addition to the advantages so to be gained by said change and alteration of said Waverly place, the said change will enable the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern Railway Company, in connection and conjunction with the lessees of the Georgia railroad, and the Atlanta and West Point railway, to establish a comprehensive system of terminals in the city of Atlanta upon property which it has acquired fronting on Central avenue and extending back eastwardly to Piedmont avenue, and to erect a large and commodious freight house, with necessary appurtenances, including tracks, platforms, roads, buildings, approaches, etc., which it intends and proposes to do, and also enable said railroads, together with the lessees of the Georgia railroad and the Atlanta and West Point railroad, to enlarge their railroad facilities looking toward the erection of an extensive joint railroad yard for the handling of freight and traffic; all of which improvements will be greatly to the benefit of the city of Atlanta by virtue of affording easy and expeditious freight facilities to the citizens of Atlanta and parties shipping to Atlanta and vicinity, which is to the public interest, and

Whereas, In connection therewith the city of Atlanta can secure, without expense to it, a right-of-way across and over the property of the railroads for the purpose of erecting and maintaining a viaduct connecting Washington street with Collins street and the system of streets on the north side of said railroads;

Therefore, Be It Ordained by the Mayor and General Council of the City of Atlanta as follows:

1. That Waverly place as now located be, and the same is, changed and altered so that the said Waverly place will begin at a point on the east side of Central avenue 174.8 feet north from the northeast corner of said Central avenue and Hunter street, and running thence north along the east side of Central avenue 60 feet; thence east, in a straight line, 421.7 feet to a point on the west line of Washington street 230.9 feet north of the northwest corner of Washington and Hunter streets; thence south 60 feet along the west side of Washington street; thence west parallel with the north line aforesaid 421.7 feet to the beginning point, making said street 60 feet wide throughout its length from Central avenue to Washington street.

2. That the said change shall be made when the railroads convey to the city of Atlanta by good and sufficient deed, to be approved by the city attorney, title, for street purposes, to the said strip of land described in paragraph 1, and said strip of land shall be opened and paved and curbed as follows: Sidewalks on each side 10 feet wide, to be paved with brick, curbed with granite, the roadway to be paved with asphalt and to be 40 feet wide, and except as to said asphalt and location of said street, to be substantially as Waverly place now is.

3. That said alteration and changes shall not take effect until the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern Railway Company has conveyed, or procured to be conveyed, to the city of Atlanta a good and sufficient title to the right-of-way 60 feet wide to extend Washington street from its present terminus across the Georgia railroad yards to a connection with Collins street; said viaduct to have a uniform width of 60 feet and a grade not to exceed 4 per cent beginning at the north curb line of Hunter street, allowing for a floor space not exceeding 4 feet below the surface of the roadway, ascending on a 4 per cent grade to the second support of the south wall of the proposed new freight station, a distance of about three hundred and forty-three (343) feet, at which point the clear elevation will be twenty-two (22) feet above the level of the main tracks in the Georgia railroad yard, the elevation at the curb line of Hunter street being 1061.6 and the elevation of the main track of the Georgia railroad being 1048.32. From the south wall of the proposed new freight station, approximately three hundred and forty-three (343) feet north of the curb line of Hunter street, the structure to be carried on a level grade to the pier or support of bridge located in Collins street. The lengths of the spans to be approximately as follows (commencing at Washington street):

	FEET--
Span No. 1	108
Span No. 2	45
Span No. 3	65
Span No. 4	45
Span No. 5	130

The supports of the various spans located on the property of the railroads, namely (counting from Washington street), No. 2, No. 3, No. 4 and No. 5, to be of a design approved by the en-

HITCH'S TRIAL TO COME FIRST

The Courtmartial Will Assemble Monday at Guard's Hall.

Captain Napier Thinks That Not More Than One Day Will Be Consumed in the Trial of Captain Hitch.

Savannah, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Captain Robert M. Hitch's case will be the first called Monday when the courtmartial assembles in the Guards' hall for the trial of the officers who are charged with dereliction of duty in having permitted the Statesboro mob to secure the negroes, Cato and Reid, and burn them at the stake.

The order in which the other officers under charges are to be tried has not yet been determined, and it is said that it will depend largely upon circumstances as they develop during the trial of Captain Hitch.

Colonel George M. Napier, judge advocate, reached the city today. He appointed Sergeant Thomas Roane, of the Emmett Rifles, to subpoena all the witnesses who are to appear before the courtmartial, and Sergeant Roane was given three privates as a detail to assist him in the work.

Colonel Napier thinks that not more than one day will be consumed in the trial of Captain Hitch. He expects that the court's decision will be reached after the conclusion of each case.

The decisions will be sent on to the adjutant general in Atlanta, and no other will be given out. Morning, afternoon and night sessions will be held, and every effort will be made to facilitate the work and spare the state all the expense possible. It seems to have been conclusively settled now that Major W. W. Williamson, of this city, is not a member of the courtmartial, but that Captain Davis Freeman is. Just how the error of putting Major Williamson's name in the list was made is not known.

Henry To Change Residence.

Berlin, October 7.—Prince Henry, of Prussia, intends to give up his residence at the old castle, at Kiel, for his new chateau at Hemmelmark, an estate a few miles from Kiel. The historic castle at Kiel is filled with souvenirs of the prince's American and Chinese travels and wonderful antique furniture. It stands on contracted grounds, overlooking the hotel and business houses, and is lacking in nothing when the prince and princess desire to live therein.

JAPS REPULSE RUSSIAN FORCE BELOW MUKDEN

Japanese Report Skirmish Between Outposts of Two Armies in Manchuria.

WEARING CHINESE TOGS RUSSIANS STRUCK JAPS

The Attacks Were Repulsed at All Points, According to Reports. Dead and Rifles Are Left on the Field at Pintaitzu.

FRIDAY'S EVENTS IN THE FAR EAST

CONTINUANCE of the gale which developed on the China sea and adjacent waters on October 4, precludes active operations by the Japanese fleet blockading Port Arthur. The British steamer Sishan, with a cargo of cattle and flour, from Shanghai, for Port Arthur, has been seized by the Japanese off Niuchwang. A detachment of the Finland guards has been ordered to leave St. Petersburg for the Far East.

Tokio, October 7.—The imperial headquarters issued a report today of the Russian military movements and skirmishes with the Japanese south of Mukden as follows:

On October 4 a few of the enemy's cavalry approached the vicinity of Ayangplenmen, but our force drove them off.

The enemy with a battalion of infantry, eleven squadrons of cavalry and five guns, advanced toward Shaliuhotzu on October 4 and retreated towards Haungshan October 5. In this direction there were only two or three of our squadrons of cavalry extended between Niakoushan and Wangchiafen. The Russian infantry heading the column wore Chinese costumes.

On October 4 a small body of the enemy attacked our pickets at Pintaitzu and on the Mukden road and was repulsed. The enemy left his dead and rifles behind. All the enemy wore Chinese clothing. Four squadrons of Russian cavalry came to Sunshutsuitzu, on the Fushun road, October 3 and remained there until the morning of October 5.

The enemy's cavalry patrols have been south of Wuliches and Lungwangiao, but they retreated north to Lutoakou, leaving infantry patrols.

A detachment of the enemy's cavalry October 4, with three guns, advanced toward Shootai and taking up a position at Tatai, fired on our troops north of Yentai.

The enemy posted at Changtan, on the right bank of the Hun river, has retired, leaving a small force there.

There are no troops of the enemy in the neighborhood of Tao-Taitsu. A small force of the enemy recently attacked our outpost on the left bank of the Hun river, but was driven back.

NO NEWS FROM THE FRONT HEARD IN ST. PETERSBURG

St. Petersburg, October 7.—Up to this hour the war office has not received fresh advices from the front.

The admiralty continues without news from the reported sea fight off Port Arthur as well as of the Tokio report of the wrecking and damaging of Russian warships at Port Arthur by the Japanese land batteries. As a portion of the squadron has been going out occasionally to bombard the Japanese land position, the possibility that some of the Russian vessels may have been damaged by the Japanese batteries is admitted. The admiralty officially announces that the Baltic fleet will be ready to sail as soon as the battleship Orel and the cruisers Oleg, Zemtchug and Izumrud, which sailed from Cronstadt today, arrive at Reval. The ice breaker Irma will accompany the fleet. The Associated Press learns from an admiral occupying a high position, that the propositions to send a fleet to the Far East by way of the Arctic has been decided in the negative. The admiralty is unable to furnish information concerning the two Russian ships reported to be cruising in Torres strait, South Pacific ocean, between New Guinea and Australia. If any Russian ships have been sighted in Torres strait, or if any Russian ships are now there, they must have been sent out from Vladivostok by Vice-Admiral Skrydloff.

ROOSEVELT'S PEACE IDEAS NOT RELISHED IN RUSSIA

St. Petersburg, October 7.—While not withholding praise for the American spirit of desiring to do things, The Bourse Gazette today expresses gratification that President Roosevelt's idea of calling a peace conference to an accompaniment of the thunder of cannons has apparently been shipwrecked.

"It is a mistake to suppose that we are no longer in the same position as in 1879, when we had the open enmity of Austria and could not rely on the friendship of Germany. The attitude of Austria, Germany, France and Italy is no longer cause for anxiety. No one knows when the war will end. There will come

WOULD NOT SEND FOR PHYSICIAN

Woman Christian Scientist of Savannah Dies Unattended.

Mrs. Mary Cook, Wife of a Lumber Inspector, Refused Aid of Doctor Until It Was Too Late for Remedies to Be Administered.

Savannah, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Mrs. Mary Cook, wife of T. L. Cook, a lumber inspector of the Philton Dodge Lumber Company, died last night at her home in west Savannah, without the attention of a physician until so late that the one finally secured by her husband found it impossible to administer remedies.

Mrs. Cook would not send for a physician when she suffered a hemorrhage. She was a Christian Scientist, and thought no earthly aid could help her.

Not until her husband got home did he discover her condition. It was not until then, hours after the hemorrhage, that a physician was called.

NEGRO RESCUES WHITE WOMAN

Hill Killed by Gillam While Attacking Mrs. Leonard.

Memphis, Tenn., October 7.—Rowland C. Hill, an insurance agent, was shot and killed by Ben Gillam, a negro, early today. The latter immediately surrendered to the police.

He said he shot Hill while protecting Mrs. Emma Leonard, a white woman. Hill, it is alleged, had persistently forced his attentions upon Mrs. Leonard, who keeps a grocery store. The woman, in order to avoid Hill, left the store and sought refuge in the yard of Gillam. Hill appeared, and, it is claimed, threatened Gillam. He entered the yard with the avowed intention of taking Mrs. Leonard back to her store.

LIFE OF LADY CURZON HANGING IN BALANCE

Mother and Sister Summoned To Bedside in Belief That End Was Near--May Perform New Operation.

WALMER CASTLE, KENT, October 8.—Lady Curzon was yesterday seized with chilliness and rigors, portending a crisis. It appears there was some secretion that nad possibly been overlooked in the first operation or that had formed, which led to apprehension that a second operation for peritonitis might be necessary, and hence specialists were hurriedly summoned from London. Mrs. and Miss Leiter, who were staying at Deal, also were summoned in the belief that the end was not distant. No bulletin has been issued since 6:35 p. m., but early this morning it is understood the condition of Lady Curzon continues grave.

LADY CURZON,
Whose Condition is Very Serious.

Boys Meet at Washington.

Washington, October 7.—The United Boys' Brigade of America began their annual meeting here today. About five hundred boys are in attendance, including a company brought here from Pittsburg by Commander in Chief Bohn. An athletic contest was scheduled for this morning and a number of prizes had been offered, but owing to a misunderstanding as to the use of the grounds, the boys had to give way to a local football team.

EIGHT MANGLED IN AUTO CRASH

Three Dead and Five Persons Injured.

New York Tourist Car Became Unmanageable and Jumped on Railroad Track, to Be Struck by a Fast Moving Train.

New York, October 7.—Driven at the rate of 25 miles an hour, a three-seated touring car, containing nine persons—four men and five women—dashed over an embankment at the southern end of Jerome avenue early today, landing on the southbound track of the New York Central and Hudson railroad. Just at that moment a southbound local train, running fast to make up time, rounded a curve and struck the automobile. Three persons were killed, two instantly; two were seriously injured and the other four, although badly bruised, were able to go home. The dead:

ALLEN NOYES, chaffeur of the automobile, killed instantly.

MADGE CORCORAN, age 30.

BELLA PEREZ, died in a hospital.

The injured:

Mrs. Kitty Wadsworth, age 35, fractured skull, will die.

Jeannette Davis, slight contusion.

Charles Doran, slight contusions, went home.

Emma Perez, shock and hysteria.

Thomas Murphy.

The party was returning to the River Side Casino from a trip to Mount Vernon. Allen Noyes, the chaffeur, had intended returning from Jerome avenue into the approach to McComb's dam bridge to cross to Manhattan. Whether he knew of the short extension of Jerome beyond One hundred and sixty-first street or not will never be known. The corner at that point is brilliantly lighted, but the extension leading to the edge of the embankment above the New York Central is paved with brick, and the car tracks run down to a picket fence at the edge.

Warning Given Too Late.

Several persons, including two policemen, saw the automobile rushing down the avenue, and were surprised when it kept straight ahead. They shouted a warning, but it was too late. With no apparent slackening of the speed, the big car crashed through the fence, cleared a dirt embankment, extending about five feet above the stone retaining wall, and then clearing the wall made a sheer drop of 25 feet to the railroad track. In its descent the car half turned and several of its occupants were spilled out. When it struck the tracks, Noyes, Bena Perez and Madge Corcoran were thrown to the tracks, the others falling to the side of the rails.

Just what happened in the few seconds that preceded the crash of the local train the survivors themselves were unable to relate. They were stunned and bleeding and trying to recover themselves when they heard the roar of the train and then the frightful crash. Noyes was caught in the wreckage of the car and tossed up with it by the pilot of the engine. His body was still there when the train was brought to a stop. Madge Corcoran was dragged by her long automobile coat, which caught on the smashed car, for a distance of 20 feet and then the clothing gave way and she fell to the track, only to be cut in two at the waist by the wheels of the engine. The whole train passed over her body.

Bella Perez was dragged about fifty feet and then tossed to one side.

The tower man in a switch tower about a hundred feet north of Jerome avenue heard the automobile as it broke through the fence, and running to his window, saw the car strike the track. The Croton local was but 200 feet away, and the engine about fifty feet north of a block signal. Jumping to the switch mechanism he dropped the lever that worked the arm of the signal which was working the green light and instantly the danger signal flashed before the eyes of the locomotive engineer, who just caught the red glare as his cab passed the signal post. At once he reversed his engine and put down the air brakes, but his speed had hardly slackened when the train struck the automobile. The train came to a stop in a distance of about eight hundred feet. On the train was Health Commissioner Thomas Darlington, who took charge of the work of caring for the injured. The locomotive engineer was arrested, but was released on his own recognizance.

PEOPLE EXCITED BY NEGRO'S ACT

Deputy Sheriff Chamberlain Slain While with Wife.

Florida Official Meets Death While Riding in His Wagon, and Citizens of Micanopy, Fla., Are Said to Be Very Indignant.

Gainesville, Fla., October 7.—About 4:30 this afternoon Deputy Sheriff Garrett V. Chamberlain was shot near his home at Tacoma by a negro while in a wagon with his wife. He died instantly. His wife was prostrated and could not talk. The information was received here by telegraph from Micanopy, but no particulars were given. The telegram gives no name or description of the negro.

The people here are very indignant and big crowds have gone out to guard the roads and approaches. Sheriff Fennel sent to Fairbanks for bloodhounds, and will leave here at midnight.

Judge Wills excused George Chamberlain, father of deceased, who was on the jury, and he left for home at 9 o'clock.

Excitement here is at the highest pitch.

The deceased was very prominent—a young man of 30 years and married. He was a trucker and farmer at Tacoma.

SLANDER CASE IS WITHDRAWN.

Dickson and Summer Settle Christian Church Matter.

Huntsville, Ala., October 7.—(Special.)—Charges of slander against D. D. Dickson, a book agent, have been withdrawn, and Dickson's suit against Elder Daniel Summer, of Indianapolis, Ind., for $20,000 for alleged false imprisonment will be withdrawn.

This is the end of one of the many cases that grew out of the Christian church trouble of several years standing.

A few months ago, during Elder Summer's visit to Huntsville for the purpose of straightening out the trouble, Dickson stated that he had known Elder Summer in Kentucky, and that he was a forger. Dickson was arrested and lodged in jail and then released by a magistrate. The next grand jury indicted him. Dickson brought a damage suit against Elder Summer, seeking to recover the sum of $20,000 for false imprisonment. When the case against Dickson was nolle prossed, he made a statement in writing that Elder Summer was not the man he had known in Kentucky.

PRIZES FOR MIDWAY SCHOOL.

University of Chicago Leads All at World's Fair.

Chicago, October 9.—President Harper has been notified by the committee of awards of the Louisiana Purchase exposition that the University of Chicago has been awarded four grand prizes for its exhibits. No other educational institution won more than two.

The prizes are for the work of the University press, the Yerkes observatory display for Professor Michaelson's exhibit of instruments for research work in physics and for general excellence in the exhibit as a whole. For the grand prize for general excellence and completeness Chicago was given the preference over Yale, Harvard, Columbia, the University of Michigan, University of Wisconsin and University of Washington.

Funeral of Bartholdi.

Paris, October 7.—The funeral of Bartholdi took place today and was a most imposing ceremony. It was attended by hundreds of mourners, including public officials, students and models. The American embassy was represented. The hearse was covered with wreaths and flowers. Ambassador Porter's offering was a large wreath. Conspicuous in the throngs were numerous modest gatherings of the working people. A company of soldiers was drawn up at the Bartholdi residence, and the body was received with military honors at Mont Parnassee armory.

Cleveland Back at Princeton.

Princeton, N. J., October 7.—After spending four weeks at Buzzards Bay, former President Grover Cleveland arrived at Princeton today, where he was welcomed by the members of his family, who returned several weeks ago.

SUBLIME CONCEIT OF REPUBLICANS

Ingalls Dissects Bombast of Roosevelt's Leaders.

Speaking at Opening of Democratic Campaign in Indianapolis—President of the Big Four System Shows Absurdity of Republican Claims.

Indianapolis, October 7.—M. E. Ingalls, president of the Big Four Railroad Company, was the principal speaker at a democratic meeting in Tomlinson hall tonight.

The speaker was escorted to the hall by democratic marching clubs and railroad men. M. C. Sweeney, of this city, who presided, introduced the speaker, who said in part:

"When I last appeared before you it was under different circumstances. It was in this very hall in 1896 that I made a speech advocating the election of McKinley. I believed then that the election of Bryan meant an economic revolution which would bring ruin and trouble to our people, and especially to those who depended upon fixed salaries and fixed wages and therefore I felt compelled to forsake the traditions of a lifetime and support a republican candidate.

"I did not believe in the half-way measure of supporting Palmer and Buckner, but thought, if I were right in my theories, there was but one course to pursue, and that was to support McKinley. It was only, however, upon the one point of preserving the gold standard.

"That crisis is past. Today there is no question about it. Whether legislation, as some claim, or increased production of gold, as others say, is responsible for it, nevertheless it is true that no one in the land would care to go back.

Republicans Were Uncertain.

"It is interesting today to listen to the talk of the republican leaders about how they saved the country in 1896, when the fact is that a large portion of them at that time were hesitating and halting and had no settled opinions as to what the standard should be.

"They had brought the country into a perilous condition by their trifling with the currency. They had passed the Sherman bill and they had reduced the financial condition of the treasury by their extravagance to the direst extremity.

"They were only saved by the gold democrats—men who thought their duty to their country demanded that they should lead their party temporarily and put a stop to the false and vacillating financial policy that was going on. They believed they could do this better by getting with the republicans than by staying with the democrats.

"This is what bolstered up McKinley and the other republican leaders in 1896. Before this they were halting and hesitating, but the strength and the influence of the gold democrats gave them courage, and so it was the gold democrats, and not the republicans, that saved the country from disaster in 1896.

"We have today a presidential election in which we have two candidates; the personal character of each of whom is above reproach, but in the principles they represent they are as far apart as the poles of the earth.

"One represents a personal government, steeped in extravagance and imperialism; the other, a constitutional and economical rule.

"If you listen to the republican orators today you would think the good crops for the last few years and the good prices which have obtained were all due to their rule. Even the weather is managed by them, and the earth gives forth its increase at their behest.

"Such inconceivable egotism and bombast was never known in the history of the world as is represented today by the republican party from its head down to its lowest henchman.

"They tell you of the prosperity and growth of the country under their administration, as though it was all due to them—when the fact is, if you go back and take the years when the democrats were in control you will find that the percentage of improvement was greater than that of the republican years, the only difference being that the democrats never had the effrontry to claim that they were responsible and entitled to credit for the beneficence of Providence.

Tariff, Mother of Trusts.

"As was truly said by a merchant of New York who had profited by it and knew whereof he spoke, 'The tariff is the mother of the trusts.'

"The year of 1902 was prolific in trusts and trade unions. Had it not been for the trusts, had it not been for the tariff, you would undoubtedly have escaped the objectionable features of trade unions, but the working man saw the immense fortunes piled up, saw these aggregations of wealth, saw these different industries protected, and he felt that he was not getting his fair share, and that there was but one way to get it, and that was by a combination of his own.

"And so out of the excessive protection out of the inflation produced by it, out of the accumulation of these large fortunes, came the demand for something that would protect the working man and his way of doing this was the organization of trade unions, and, like trusts, they have gone to extremes and made their troubles and done their injury to business.

"Possibly the greatest trouble from the excessive tariff is the large revenues that come in and the extravagant expenditure it engenders. Already there is a deficit which the government must face—changing their books and striving as much as they can to cover it up until after election day, but one that is growing.

"Just think—no more statements until after election day. A great government like this! I would remind you of a broken down railroad in Indiana that was trying to fight off a receivership.

"It is a proof of the need of a change when the bookkeeper stops giving you a balance sheet.

"It is only twelve years since President Cleveland and a democratic congress came into power. In the four years that they were in power their expenditures were about $440,000,000 a year. The republican exxpenditures under Roosevelt are over $700,000,000 today with no war, with peace on earth and, as they claim, good will to men. Their expenditures are nearly double those of the last democratic administration.

"No, gentlemen, there is but one thing to do if you would bring the American republic back to the simplicity of the days of its fathers; if you would save it from the imperialism and extravagance that is rife today—there is but one thing to do, and that is to elect our candidate, Judge Parker."

JAPS REPULSE RUSSIAN FORCE

a time when Japan will be confronted with the might of the whole Russian nation; then she will meet the fate of Genghis Khan."

The question of sending the Baltic sea fleet to the Far East by way of Cape Horn is advocated by a strong party at the admiralty on the ground that after passing the Strait of Magellan their progress could not be dogged and reported by cable. The colliers could rendezvous at the South sea and the smaller Pacific islands. The main risk would be that in the vast stretch the vessels might be blown off their track and the danger of shipwreck exists.

The selection of this route would be tantamount to a decision not to reach Vladivostok in the spring, a long voyage requiring economical speed for, at least, four months.

FIVE SUBMARINE BOATS BOUND FOR FAR EAST

New York, October 7.—Five submarine torpedo boats built in Massachusetts have been shipped by rail from Jersey City.

"West of Chicago" is the destination expressed upon the way bill which accompanied one of the first vessel shipments which has ever crossed the American continent. Valued at nearly $4,000,000, the torpedo boats occupied seventeen new steel flat cars and six box cars, the boats were shipped in sections, and each car was covered with canvas which concealed the contents.

There was not the slightest mark on any car to indicate the contents or the destination and to the railroad employees who inquired the stereotyped answer was given that the covered masses were a part of a large shipment of machinery destined for the west.

KOREANS FEEL BITTER TOWARD THE JAPANESE

Vladivostok, October 7.—Russians who have just returned here from Korea say the Koreans, especially in southern provinces, are greatly incensed at the high-handed actions of the Japanese who seize the young men, cut their hair, place them in Japanese uniforms and compel them to enter the ranks. The population, it is stated, is now favorable to the Russians.

The harvest in northern Korea has been exceedingly good.

FORTIFYING VLADIVOSTOK AGAINST JAPANESE ATTACKS

Tsing-Tau, October 7.—The German steamer Progress, chartered by a local German firm and which left here twenty-six days ago with a general cargo consigned to Vladivostok, returned from that port today and reported that she found it easy to elude the Japanese ships in that vicinity. She reported that a number of large ships have been there recently with stores of coal and ammunition. The city of Vladivostok is quiet and the Russians seem depressed over their land and sea reverses.

Vladivostok is being heavily fortified, the harbor is being mined and repairing of the damaged ships is going on. It is believed that it will be impossible to put the armored cruiser Rossia in a seaworthy condition. It is stated in Vladivostok that General Kuropatkin has been very ill and unable to personally command his army since the battle of Liao-Yang.

Russian officers at Tsing-Tau are responsible for the statement that ammunition and guns for the protected cruiser Diana have reached Port Arthur from Siagon. The Germans do not believe this story. The Russians are in constant communication with Port Arthur, it is believed by wireless messages sent to Chefoo, though it is claimed that junks carry the messages. It is claimed that the expected dash of the Port Arthur fleet has been frustrated by the terrific storms which have prevailed this week.

The British collier Howy is here discharging a cargo of coal to the German ship Emma. The latter is expected to make an attempt to reach Port Arthur within a few days.

HEAVY FIRING HEARD TOWARDS PORT ARTHUR

St. Petersburg, October 7.—The only reference to the reported sea fight off Port Arthur is contained in a delayed special dispatch from Chefoo, which says that on the night of October 5 the sound of firing was heard in the direction of Port Arthur and that searchlights were seen to be working in that vicinity. It is thought there may have been a battle, but no confirmation of the report of one has been received.

The dispatch further states that in spite of the tightening of the Japanese blockade junks are still arriving from the fortress bearing refugees who say that all the attacks of the Japanese have been repulsed and that it will be necessary to institute a long siege and a complete blockade in order to reduce the fortress.

The blockade, according to the refugees, is not completely effective, junks arriving continually with fod supplies and munitions for the garrison. The Japanese have instituted a close patrol over the entire Yellow sea, stopping every vessel sighted. The captain of the British steamer Chenan, which was stopped by a Japanese cruiser while on her way to Chefoo from Taku, but was allowed to proceed after here cargo had been examined, has made a protest against the way he was boarded and searched on the high sea.

RUSSIAN SOLDIERS WRITE TELLING OF LIAO YANG FIGHT

St. Petersburg, October 7.—Mail letters describing incidents at the battle of Liao-Yang are beginning to reach the newspapers here. An eye-witness, who was present in the town during the fearful bombardment of August 30 and August 31, compares the scene to a seething caldron, veterans of the Turkish war declaring that nothing approaching the intensity of the shell fire had been experienced at Plevna. The hollow in which Liao-Yang is situated is described as being an awful mass of death and destruction. Some of the Japanese guns posted in the Chinese corn paid particular attention to a Russian captive balloon firing shrapnel in the hope of puncturing it. The soldiers attached to the ropes of the balloon were compelled several times hurriedly to drag it away, but the balloon was never even touched. Major General Kashtalinsky, who was on a hill near Sytchun, told a correspondent that the Japanese gunners tried vainly for a whole day to locate the Russian battery posted in the corn near the hill.

BLOCKADE RUNNER TAKEN BY JAPANESE

Shanghai, October 7.—The British steamer Sisham, from Hong Kong, has been seized by the Japanese off Niuchwang

The Sishan is a steamer of 1,351 tons and is owned by Thomas W. Richardson, of London.

FOUR RUSSIAN WARSHIPS DAMAGED BY JAPANESE

Tokio, October 7.—It is reported here that the fire of the Japanese land batteries severely damaged four Russian warships in the harbor of Port Arthur. It is stated that one of the vessels was completely wrecked. The names of none of the ships were given.

CALLED ON WRONG WOMAN.

T. W. Henderson Makes Mistake About Wife at Griffin.

Griffin, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Dr. T. W. Henderson, a well-known dentist and citizen of Crawford, in this state, had a series of adventures in Griffin yesterday which landed him in the city prison and caused him to appear before Mayor Bailey this morning, where he received a fine of $25.

It all grew out of a mistake, so Dr. Henderson says, and his story is believed by many here. Some time ago he was separated from his wife and learned that she was here. He telephoned here and was told that there was a Mrs. Henderson who was a new arrival in Griffin and who was boarding at Mrs. H. I. Watts' home here. Without waiting to find out more Dr. Henderson came to Griffin. He obtained a hack and was driven to Mrs. Watts' home. On his arrival he asked for Mrs. Henderson.

There is a Mrs. Henderson there. She is a married lady who, with her husband, has been in Griffin several days. Mrs. and Mrs. Henderson are from Massachusetts and the former is here to see after the placing of some intricate machinery at High Falls.

When Mrs. Henderson was called for she came down, only to see a strange man at the door.

"This is not Mrs. Henderson," said the stranger. She replied that that was her name and remembering some of the things she had heard in Boston about lawlessness in the south, she called her husband. He came to the door at once and in the excitement Mrs. Henderson fainted. The newcomer, Dr. Henderson, seeing that the woman had fainted, approached and offered his aid. This caused more excitement and it was this morning before the unwelcome stranger could explain his true position. He had friends in the city who vouched for his story and he was not punished very severely. In the meantime he is still looking for the right Mrs. Henderson.

NEGROES SHOOT A POLICEMAN

While Raiding Gamblers Dormer Receives Three Bullets.

Cordele, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Policeman Dormer was shot and perhaps fatally wounded tonight in a raid on a gang of negro gamblers in the southern part of the town.

One of the negroes in the party of ten or twelve was shot through the hand, and the officers believe that at least two of those who escaped arrest were seriously wounded.

A posse composed of citizens is now in pursuit of of the negroes and it is expected that some of them will be taken before morning.

The raid was made by Policemen Bush and Dormer shortly after 8 o'clock. The officers found the gang in a vacant house and called on them to surrender, when the negroes opened fire. The fire was immediately returned by the policemen. Policeman Bush escaped, while Dormer was shot three times and his right arm was broken. One bullet took effect in Dormer's right shoulder. His condition tonight is extremely serious.

Company Thought Solvent.

Montgomery, Ala., October 7.—Special.)—The Alabama Cotton Products Company, which was placed in the hands of a receiver yesterday, is regarded as solvent, the assets being $299,593, and liabilities $68,599. Receiver W. C. Lovering will spend much of his time in the east looking after the finances, while Receiver Hecker will look after the state territory. The company handles round bales and conducts round bale presses.

DOUGLAS NAMED BY DEMOCRATS

Brocton Man Heads Ticket in Massachusetts.

Platform Adopted in Bay State Indorses Party's National Platform and Candidates and Condemns Roosevelt's Tendencies Toward Imperialism.

Boston, October 7.—William L. Douglas, of Brocton, for governor and John C. Crosby, of Pittsfield, for lieutenant governor, were nominated by acclamation by the democratic state convention.

The nomination of the rest of the ticket was made by a committee whose report wah unanimously adopted as follows:

Secretary of state, Henry T. Schafer, treasurer, Edmund D. Codman, Boston; attorney-general, John H. Leahy, Boston; auditor, Francis X. Tetrault, South Bridge.

The platform endorsed the party's national candidates and congratulated the country on "the removal of the so-called money question from the sphere of political controversy, through the acceptance by both parties of the present standard of value as the law of the land."

It demanded tariff reform, reciprocity with Canada, the enforcement of the law against monopolies and the separation of the three branches of the government. In this connection the platform reads:

"The democratic party believes in the separation of the executive and the judiciary as ordained by the federal constitution. The republican party, through its chief executive, has ignored this plain political mandate. The executive, not confent with exercising powers conferred on him by the execution and laws, has usurped powers designated to congress and the judiciary.

Roosevelt's Assumption of Power.

"He has arbitrarily even with benevolent intent, taken from the judiciary contrary to the law of the land, the power to review a judicial ruling of an administrative officer. He has by executive decree in defiance of the law, converted disability law into a service pension law, calmly claiming as a ratification of the illegality; an opinion by congress limited expressly to disability and by necessary implication including service pension laws. He has declared war against a sister republic without act of congress, in defiance of the well known usages of international law, and in the face of an adverse opinion from his chief law advisor it is commonly believed."

The rest of the document was devoted to state issues and a rehearsal of the grave scandals and frauds in important branches of the public service.

The platform was unanimously adopted.

After passing a resolution eulogistic of Senator Hoar, the convention adjourned.

Governor Bates Renominated.

Governor John L. Bates was nominated for governor by the republicans today, Lieutenant Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., Henry E. Turner, of Malden, for auditor and Herbert Parker, attorney general, were renominated by acclamation.

Permanent organization was speedily effected and Attorney General William Moody was presented as the permanent chairman. Mr. Moody opened his address with an eloquent tribute to the late Postmaster General Payne. His speech was a long review of the republican administration commencing with the election of President McKinley in 1896, which he characterized as the beginning of an epoch that is not yet ended. He predicted victory in the coming election, basing his claim therfor upon the achievements of republican national administration during that period.

Columbus, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—D. A. Skinner, aged 63 years, an old Confederate soldier, died last night at his home in Wynnton. He is survived by eight children, one of whom is W. J. Skinner, of Atlanta. The funeral occurred today, the interment being at Midway church in this county.

Mrs. Eva Lyons, Columbus, Ga.

Columbus, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Mrs. Eva Lyons, wife of C. W Lyons, died yesterday of tumor. The funeral occurred today, the services being conducted by Rev. Theo. Copeland, pastor of St. Luke church, of which the deceased was a member.

NO BILL AGAINST SHIVERS.

Boy Who Killed His Father Is Not Indicted.

Griffin, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—The grand jury in the case of young Harry Shivers, of Pike county, who shot his father about two months ago in a family row, in session at Zebulon, in that county, returned no bill after carefully investigating the entire matter. The tragedy was fully written up in The Constitution at the time. Young Shivers was only 14 years of age and in defense of his smaller brothers and sisters and his mother he shot his father, W. J. Shivers, with a double-barreled shotgun, killing him instantly. Sentiment in the community was at the time divided, but after a careful investigation of the affair the grand jury, it is understood, now returns "no bill." Young Shivers was released form jail this afternoon and came from Zebulon to Griffin, where his mother now lives.

Mewborn's Home Burns.

Elberton, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Last night the home and contents of A. J. Mewborn, a few miles out from Elberton were totally destroyed by fire, origin unknown. Mr. Mewborn had $1,075 insurance.

NEBRASKA KISSES WAVES

Big Battleship Launched Yesterday at Seattle.

FIRST BUILT NORTH OF 'FRISCO

Launching Occurred Without Hitch in Presence of Many Army and Navy Officers.

Seattle, Wash., October 7.—In the presence of a teeming multitude of onlookers, and christened by a daughter of the governor of the state for which she is named, Uncle's Sam's latest and largest battle ship, Nebraska, was launched from the ways of the Moran Brothers Company at 2:02 o'clock this afternoon. Governor John H. Mickey, of Nebraska, and his party, including prominent state officials and their wives, participated in the ceremonies.

The launching occurred without a hitch, and was the occasion of a half holiday throughout the city. Miss Mary Main Mickey, a daughter of Governor Mickey, stood sponsor for the vessel. The Nebraska is the first battle ship built on the Pacific coast north of San Francisco, and all the leading army and navy officials in the forts west took part in the programme. The Nebraska has a displacement of 15,000 tons. Her contract price is $3,733,600. Her length is 441 feet 3 inches, beam 76 feet 2 1-2 inches, draught 31 feet 9 inches, speed 19 knots, indicated horse-power 19,000. Her main battery consists of four 12-inch guns, eight 8-inch and twelve 6-inch guns, and her secondary battery consists of fourteen 3-inch guns, twelve three-pounders, sixteen small guns and four 21-inch torpedo tubes.

CROSSED WIRES CAUSE A FIRE.

Excitement Is Caused in Rock Hill by An Accident.

Columbia, S. C., October 7.—(Special.)—Considerable excitement was caused at Rock Hill last evening by the crossing of the Catawba Power company's wires with one of the telephone connections. Every telephone bell in the city rang. The fuses were burned out in the telephone exchange and a small blaze started. Several slight fires were discovered in time to be put out before much damage was done.

The cashier's stand at Friedheim's store, the office of the Victoria mills, the residence of Mrs. Cobb and others were among those where flames followed the accident.

WATERS ISSUES A CHALLENGE.

Asks Littlejohn to Meet Him in Picking Contest.

Statesboro, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—M. B. Waters, of this place, has challenged James D. Littlejohn, of Milner, Ga., to a cotton picking contest. A few days ago Mr. Waters noted in an Atlanta paper that Mr. Littlejohn had picked 648 pounds of cotton in a day, and thereby claimed the world's record. Mr. Waters has picked 540 pounds in a day, and played a game of baseball in the afternoon and drilled at night.

Mr. Waters' challenge carries with it a wager of $100, and agrees to take care of Mr. Littlejohn if he will come to Swainsboro and pay for his ticket back home should he decide to come.

SPARTA BANK DEPOSITORY.

Strong Institution Named by Governor for State Funds.

Sparta, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—The First National bank of Sparta has just received notice of its appointment by the governor as a state depository. The First national was organized January 1, 1904, with John D. Walker, president; Captain R. B. Baxter, vice president; H. L. Middlebrooks, Jr., cashier, and its board of directors is composed of the strongest men in this section of the state. As an evidence of its popularity, its last statement made to the comptroller of the currency, just eight months after its organization, showed assets of over a quarter of a million dollars.

PARKER AND HERRICK MEET

Two Democratic Candidates Have a Conference in New York.

TALK OF NEW YORK FIGHT

Dan Lamont and Tom Taggart Joined in Discussion of Campaign Issues.

New York, October 7.—The first conference between Judge Herrick, democratic candidate for governor of New York, and Judge Parker took place today at the apartments of the latter at the Hotel Seville.

Daniel S. Lamont and National Chairman Taggart arrived shortly after Judge Herrick. The four conferred at length concerning the state issues in New York, and the relations they bear to the national campaign. At the conclusion of the discussion, Judge Parker's callers departed, declining to talk of the conference.

Judge Parker left the Hotel Seville at 2:15 o'clock to catch the West Shore train for his home. He expects to return to New York either Monday or Tuesday of next week.

THE PASSING THRONG.

Hon. Charles H. Lednum, clerk of the United States court of appeals, now sitting in Atlanta, is a native of Georgia, and notwithstanding the fact that he has been absent from the state almost 20 years, is still remembered by many Georgians and quite a number of Atlantans. Born in Columbus, Mr. Lednum passed the early years of his life along the banks of the Chattahoochee in which he doused his body, and from which he pulled many a member of the finny tribe. In 1877 he went to Texas, and for years his home was in the Lone Star state. He became deputy clerk of the United States court in that state in 1886, and in that capacity and as United States commissioner remained there until 1901, when he was made clerk of the United States court of appeals, a position he has filled efficiently. The work requires the closest care and most direct attention, and for that reason changes are rarely made when once a competent clerk has been secured.

"I have been in Georgia frequently," said Mr. Lednum at the Majestic last night, "and every time I come I find some reason to feel prouder than ever before of the old state. At a glance it can be seen that it is improving. New homes, new industries, new railway lines are to be found in every section of the state, and I am glad of it. Every native of Georgia is proud of the old state, and well he may be."

Hon. Lon Livingston, member of congress from this district, was at the Kimball yesterday.

Colonel William Neill, until a few months ago proprietor of the Brown house in Macon, is at the Plaza in that city quite ill. Colonel Neill went down to Macon a few days ago en route to Jacksonville, where he contemplated leasing a hotel. Stopping off in Macon for a few days he was taken ill, and within a few days a physician was necessary Information from Macon last night brought by commercial travelers, every one of whom knows the colonel, indicates that he was somewhat better yesterday noon.

Hon. Carter Tate, who served the ninth district in the national house for years, was in the city yesterday, and was given a warm greeting by a host of friends residing in Atlanta, as well as by a number of friends from other sections of the state who happened to be in the city.

"It's a little cool up our way," he remarked, "but then it's the healthy mountain breezes. It's an air that brings health to all who breathe it, and a climate that drives old age away. No one living up in that section ever gets old. Now, you will find that to be a fact. Just watch and see."

"The Duval in Jacksonville," remarked Mr. Hunt, traveling correspondent for the New York Hotel Reporter, "is not on the market. Soon after Mr. Sperry's death some 10 days ago it was thought that the Duval would soon pass into new hands. It was generally thought that Mrs. Sperry would not care to continue the management, and quite a number of experienced hotel men, some of the south, some from the east, were casting an eye in that direction. It is known that at least three persons attempted to open negotiations with the widow, but without result. It has been positively announced within the past two or three days that Mrs. Sperry will retain the lease, and that her son in law will assume active management of the house. The Duval is an up to date house, and is usually well patronized during the season."

Dr. C. M. Edwards, of Anniston, Ala., is registered at the Kimball.

Mrs. G. T. Howard, of Charlotte, N C., has apartments at the Kimball.

T. K. Leyburn, of Gastonia, is at the Piedmont.

Heavy Damage Suit Filed.

Madison, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Iver V. Stenstrom, of Columbia county, filed suit in Morgan superior court for $15,000 damages against the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company and Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, lessees of the Georgia railroad.

The plaintiff alleges that he was a fireman and on the 19th of last July was injured in a head-on collision between two freight trains near Careys, in this county.

Wealthy Negro Dies.

Americus, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Henry Mann, a prosperous and inddustrious negro farmer, residing near Americus, died today at an advanced age. After his emancipation Henry Mann went energetically to work and amassed a small fortune for a negro. He owned a valuable plantation of a thousand acres, upon which he operated sixteen plows, and other valuable property besides. He was respected and trusted by all citizens.

Burglars Bold in Americus.

Americus, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Many bold burglaries are being committed in Americus, without the detection of a single thief. The most daring was made upon the residence of Robert McLeon, when a negro attempted to break open a chiffonier wherein were stored Mrs. McLeod's diamonds, watch and other valuables. The burglar fled and escaped.

Greek Minister to Mexico.

Mexico City, October 7.—Marquis de Prat de Nantouillet, Spanish minister to Mexico, today received advices from King George, of Greece, of his appointment as Greek minister of Mexico. This is the first appointment of the kind ever made in Mexico. Marquis Prat was formerly Spanish minister to Athens, where he married a Grecian lady of high rank, who was the maid of honor to the Grecian queen.

KING LEOPOLD IS ASSAILED

Charged With Outrages in Congo Free State.

CRUELTY DONE FOR GOLD.

Belgian Sovereign Bitterly Attacked Before International Peace Congress in Boston.

Boston, October 7.—King Leopold of Belgium was assailed for his policy as sovereign of the Congo Free State, at a public meeting held this afternoon in connection with the sessions of the international peace congress.

The attack on King Leopold was made by E. T. Morel, of England, who represented the Congo Reform association. Mr. Morel charged that the king was personally responsible in a large measure for cruelties practiced on the natives of the Congo Free State in the terrific endeavors of monopolistic commercial organizations to obtain from the country all the ivory and rubber possible.

The king was defended by George Herbert Head, of Cambridge, England, who submitted that King Leopold had done all possible to stop the cruelties practiced.

The government policy in the Congo also was bitterly denounced by Rev. W. M. Morrison, for seven years a missionary in the Congo land.

The congress today accepted a report from the committee on propaganda recommending that the congress in 1905 be held at Lucerne, Switzerland.

One of the first things which the congress did today was to adopt resolutions recommending to all nations to enter into a treaty insuring in case of dispute between countries that the difference would be submitted for settlement to a union of all the powers.

A second public meeting this afternoon was held in the Old South meeting house, to consider the progress of the peace movement in Europe, with addresses by prominent foreign delegates.

A dinner was given tonight at which the foreign delegates were the guests. Speeches were made by Bishop Percival of England, the Baroness Von Suttner, Booker T. Washington and others.

Renewal of Sugar Rate War.

Chicago, October 7.—A renewal of the sugar rate war recently declared off by the reinstatement of the old rate is imminent through the action of the Savannah line of steamers, running from New York to gulf ports. A 32-cent rate has been put in force in place of the former rate of 52 cents. The new rate is made in connection with the "Frisco railroad" to Missouri river points. The Illinois Central, to offset this cut and for the purpose of handling the products of the New Orleans plants, has put in a rate of 29 cents, which is a cut of 12 cents under the present rate from New Orleans to Mississippi river points. Chicago railroads threaten to put in a rate of 10 cents to Mississippi river points.

Captain Zach Martin in Madison.

Madison, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Captain Zach Martin, of Atlanta, has been in Madison the past few days as the guest of his brother, John Martin. He was here looking after his farming interests. The Madison Advertiser is noting his presence in the city, pays him a handsome compliment and declares that all of his old friends are pleased to welcome him.

Bladder Diseases Promptly Cured.

It is folly to suppose that these so called "kidney cures" will cure bladder trouble, though they are generally advertised for this purpose. And neither will a remedy intended for rheumatism do it. These are distinct and separate diseases, and Dr. J. Newton Hathaway, the noted Specialist, treats each case according to its requirements. That his method is the right way, is attested by his excellent success, in this class of diseases, including in fact all the diseases of a uric acid nature. You cannot find a better treatment than the doctor has for cystitis, inflammation of the bladder, too frequent desire to urinate, retention of the urine, enlargement of the prostate, bedwetting, diabetes, Bright's disease and all other diseases which interfere with urinary functions. In gravel, stone in the bladder, uric acid, calculi, etc., the doctor has been especially successful. Men and women having such diseases are invited to call on Dr. Hathaway for free examination and advice. He will tell you just what is the matter with you and how best to cure it. If you decide to take treatment, the charge will be a very reasonable one, and he will try to cure you in as short a space of time as possible. He has a booklet on the subject of urinary diseases, which he will gladly send to distant patients. Write for it, it is free. His specialty also includes all Chronic Diseases of Men and Women. If you live too far away to call, write him for booklet on your special disease, and also symptom blank. Book No. 1 for Diseases of the Vital Organs, No. 2, Throat and Lung Troubles; No. 3, Female Diseases (new edition); No. 4, Stricture; No. 5, Varicocele; No. 6, Blood Poison (on detail); No. 7, Kidney, Bladder and Rheumatism; No. 8, Nervous Debility and Weakness of Men (enlarged new edition). Blank No. 1 for Men, No. 2 for Women, No. 3 for Skin Diseases, No. 4 for Catarrhal Diseases, No 5 for Piles, Rheumatism, Diseases of the Heart, Liver and Kidney. Write for one of these books and blanks today. They show you how to be cured. The address is J. NEWTON HATHAWAY, M. D., 33 Inman Bldg., 22½ South Broad St., Atlanta, Ga. BRIDE IS LYING NEAR TO DEATH

Woman Declared That First Two Doses of Calomel Tasted as Usual, But the Third One Was Very Bitter Medicine.

Spartanburg, S. C., October 7.—(Special.)—Four weeks ago Bert Gregory and Miss Bee White were married, in Union, but now the bride lies at the point of death and her husband was taken to jail yesterday afternoon on the charge of having poisoned her.

Sunday night, Gregory went to the home of Dr. O. L. P. Jackson and asked for three doses of calomel for himself and three for his wife, which were given him.

Tuesday night Dr. Jackson was summoned by the husband, who said his wife was not well, and immediately on seeing the patient the physician declared she had been poisoned.

Mrs. Gregory replied that she had taken no medicine except from her husband, but had noticed that the first two doses of calomel tasted as usual, but the third had been very bitter.

SCHOOL MAY TEST THE MATTER.

Bowman District, in Elbert, Wants School Fund.

Elberton, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—About a year ago or more the state legislature incorporated what is known as the Bowman school district. At first the county school commissioner paid over to the district its pro rata of the public school fund, but recently the authorities decided that the incorporation of the district was unconstitutional, and no more money has been paid to the district. This action has caused quite a good deal of feeling, and several hot cards have been published in the papers on both sides the district claims that so long as the act stands and is not held by the courts to be unconstitutional, and is not repealed, they have a right to their part of the public fund. The county board of education say the question has been tested in another instance, and the supreme court decided such an act unconstitutional. Under that authority they refuse to pay the Bowman district any more money. It is probable that the matter will get into the courts on mandamus proceedings.

SOUTHERNERS OPPOSE CANON

Claim Measure Would Lead to Many Difficulties.

Boston, Mass., October 7.—(Special.)—It is learned that some of the southern delegates will oppose the passage of the new canon restricting preaching or ministerial acts within an Episcopal edifice to only duly authorized clergy of the church. They say it would lead to interminable difficulties in their districts where a mutual exchange of pulpits with other christian bodies is the rule rather than the exception.

Heirs Secure Injunction.

Elberton, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—The heirs of the late J. H. Grogan, or some of them, have secured a temporary injunction against the city of Elberton securing its water for its system of water works out of Beaver Dam creek, on the ground that it will injure and damage mill rights the plaintiffs have on the creek below the point where the city expects to get its water. W. I. Hobbs, of Gainesville, is acting for plaintiffs. Elberton has most of the water mains laid, and is constructing the power house on the creek. The city claims that the property of plaintiffs will in no way be damaged or injured.

Physics Course in Schools.

Elberton, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—The city council has appropriated $300 for the purpose of installing a course of physics in the public schools. The money will be used to buy apparatus.

SERVICE MARKED BY SIMPLICITY

No Ostentation at Funeral of Postmaster General Payne.

Washington, October 7.—Although an official funeral, the services in St. John church today over the body of the late Henry C. Payne, postmaster general were marked by impressive simplicity. Official Washington filled the nave of the church and, brilliant as were the uniforms of the large representation from the army, navy and marine corps, the solemnity of the scene was only enhanced by the sharp contrast of color with the deep mourning of the family and personal friends of the dead cabinet officer.

Side by side with Mrs. Payne sat President and Mrs. Roosevelt, both in deep mourning. In half an hour the funeral procession was winding its way slowly down Pennsylvania avenue, escorted by postal carriers of the city of Washigton in uniform, to the Pennsylvania station, whence the body will be taken this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock on a special train to Milwaukee. The interment will be in that city, the home of Mr. Payne.

By 10 o'clock, an hour before the services were to begin, mounted policemen grouped themselves along H street for a block above and below the church to keep back the rapidly gathering crowd. The entire right side of the church was occupied by the officials of the postoffice department, who arrived a few minutes before 11 o'clock, headed by Robert J. Wynne, the acting postmaster general. To the left of the church sat the diplomatic corps, the chiefs of the bureaus of the navy department, the commandant of the marine corps and the officers of the navy and of the marine corps.

Many Officials Attend.

In the center of the nave in the order named seats were reserved for the supreme court, the admiral of the navy, the chief of the general staff, the supreme court of the District of Columbia, the commissioners of the districts, senators and members of congress; the assistant secretaries of the departments, of the general staff of the army, of the chief of the bureaus of the war department and army officers on duty in Washington. This left the front pews for the president and Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. Payne and the family and personal friends of Mr. Payne, and seats to the right for the cabinet and the body bearers. At five minutes of 11 the president and Mrs. Roosevelt arrived at the south transcept door, where they were met by Major Charles McCawley, of the marine corps, who was in charge of the ushers, and assigned their seats. Accompanying them, were the president's aides and Colonel Charles H. Bromwel, superintendent of public buildings and grounds, and Mr. Loeb, secretary to the president, who sat immediately behind the president.

The funeral party arrived a few minutes later and were met at the door by the Rev. Roland Cotton Smith, rector of St. John, and his assistants. The procession formed at the transcept door, the rector leading the way and reading the scriptural selections from the burial service of the Episcopal church. The casket was borne to the chancel by eight uniformed postal carriers. After them walked the pallbearers, Secretary Hay, Secretary Hitchcock and Secretary Wilson, the only members of the cabinet who were able to reach Washington for the funeral.

Mrs. Payne entered the church supported by Charles S. Jones, and his sister, Miss Louise Jones, the nephew and niece of Mrs. Payne, and followed by a few personal friends.

The service was read by Rev. Mr. Smith and his assistant, Rev. Mr. Dunlap, the only alteration in the regular order of services being the offering of a special prayer for Mrs. Payne.

The chancel was fragrant with flowers sent by friends from all over the country. The only flowers on the casket were those of Mrs. Payne, a large sheaf of Easter lilies; a wreath of white roses and carnations from the president and Mrs. Roosevelt, and a cluster of violets, gardenias and palms, the offering of Miss Jones. The members of the diplomatic corps, out of respect for the dead cabinet officers, were dressed in black, and practically every department in Washington was at the church. After the funeral party had left the church the congregation remained standing until the president and Mrs. Roosevelt had entered their carriage. Mrs. Payne and the relatives of the postmaster general were driven to the Arlington hotel, where they will remain until train time.

The body was placed on the special car provided for it and guarded by the postal carriers.

Honored at Headquarters.

New York, October 7.—Notices were posted on the board of the republican national committee today stating that by direction of Chairman Cortelyou the headquarters would be closed on account of the death of the postmaster general. Some of the officials, however, were present to attend to necessary correspondence.

SPAIN AND FRANCE AGREE.

Treaty on Moroccan Difference Was Signed Yesterday.

Paris, October 7.—Foreign Minister Delcasse and M. Leon y Castillo, the Spanish ambassador, today signed the Spanish-French agreement relative to Morocco, which has been the subject of extended and difficult negotiations.

It takes the form of a brief declaration, giving the adhesion of Spain to the Anglo-French agreement of August 18, 1904, and Spain formally agrees to support the integrity of the Moroccan empire under the sovereignty of the sultan. Spain also recognizes the rights of France resulting from her Algerian possessions, while France recognizes the rights of Spain resulting from her possessions on the coast of Morocco.

ONE KILLED, SEVEN INJURED.

Wheeling Express on Panhandle Crashes Into Freight.

Pittsburg, October 7.—One person was killed and seven injured today in a collision on the Panhandle railroad between the Wheeling express, eastbound, and a light-running freight engine, westbound.

The dead:

J. W. RAUSCH, fireman of the passenger engine.

The injured:

D. L. Richey, engineer.
C. A. Sweeney, engineer.
H. W. Sloan, fireman.
George C. Ranson.
T. B. Adams, a passenger.
Two unknown passengers were slightly injured.

Reward for Dynamiter.

Montgomery, Ala., October 7.—(Special.)—The governor has offered a reward of $250 for the discovery of the person who tried to blow up the residence of President Maben, of the Sloss-Scheffield Co., at Birmingham September 21.

WIZARD EDISON PROTECTS NAME

Threatens Schemers Who Misled Son.

Thomas A. Edison, Jr., After Unhappy Career, Induced to Enter Opposition Firm and Urged to Oppose Father— Reconciliation Effected.

New York, October 7.—(Special.)—Thomas A. Edison, the electrical wizard, and his son, Thomas A. Edison, Jr., have become reconciled, and the younger Edison has agreed to cut adrift from those who have been urging him to oppose in a commercial way under the name of the Thomas A. Edison, Jr., Chemical Company the business of the noted inventor.

The father has forgiven the past and declares that his joy in the restoration of the affection and good will of his son makes him feel a score of years younger. He affirms, however, that he will prosecute criminally any further efforts to use the name of his son and namesake in the magnet electric battery venture or any other which formerly sought his son's aid.

"I am doing that which any good father would do," he stated, "that which any good citizen would do in an endeavor to protect innocent persons from being held up by unscrupulous persons. They misled my son. They did everything but make a criminal of him.

"And I shall expose them. I'll pursue them to the bitter end. I'll protect my name if it costs me every dollar in the world I possess."

He was very strong and bitter in his characterization of them, but expressed his belief that his son would never again yield to the men whom he said stood for nothing sound in the business world. He declared:

"It has all ended as it should, and the future holds much promise for him."

Concern Is Closed.

The latest spectacular episode in the interesting history of young Edison was the so-called Thomas A. Edison, Jr., Chemical Company, and in its brief history it maintained a running fight with the senior Edison, who, after varying success in litigation recently had the satisfaction of seeing the company's place of business, 14 Stone street, closed on a fraud order issued by the postoffice department.

While the Edisons felicitate in their reunion, W. Newton Bennington, the head of the firm, closed out by the postoffice department, was angry.

"Thomas A. Edison, Jr., he said, "invented the magno-electric vitalizer, patented and sold it to us. The elder Edison attempted to get an injunction against us by the postoffice department. We will appeal the case to the highest courts, but while waiting for a decision in the case will probably incorporate a new company to operate the business. One thousand out of every 8,000 of our patrons have sent voluntary testimonials showing the merit of the article, and we will dispute the accusation of fraud in any court. The firm is solvent, and does not owe a dollar to any one."

The noted inventor was found last night seated on the uncovered portion of the veranda of his mountain home, with only the branches of a tree between him and the open sky. He was only roused from his deep meditations by the approach of a news correspondent to ask him for an expression concerning the venture of his son.

Suffering From X-Ray Poison.

The Wizard of Menlo Park was found at a little house situated in the gloomy recesses of the great hills near Stewartville. Nearby is his great cement plant. He had been suffering for three days from the results of X-Ray poisoning, contracted some years ago at the same time his superintendent, Dally, got the X-ray disease which resulted in his death.

Mr. Edison went from his room to his cement laboratory. He returned at dusk a sick man. Great knobs, like those at the end of a rope, had formed in his body, and these gave him uneasiness.

He was found at 9 o'clock last night, sitting on the veranda of his mountain home. The darkness around him was intense. Inside his room a fire of logs spluttered. No electric lights illuminated his working home. An old-fashioned oil lamp threw weird shadows on the unpapered walls.

Young Edison's Career.

Thomas A. Edison, Jr., was the idol of his father up to the time he became identified with the set of young men who held forth nightly on the Casino corner. Marie Tuohey, a beauty of the Casino forces, captivated the young man, and notwithstanding the entreaties of his parents to give up the actress he married her and settled in a flat on Sixty-third street.

The manner of conducting his flat soon caused a stringency in the young man's financial affairs, and he began lending his name to various corporations in the electrical line. The father secured his promise to stop this by paying him $50 a week. When married about a year young Edison found a letter addressed to his wife by a friend, and walked penniless from Lake George to New York and slept in a Fourth avenue saloon. He sued for divorce and incidentally disappeared and was hunted throughout the country under the belief that he was dead.

Found in North Carolina.

Wandering about the country, young Edison was arrested for intoxication at Raleigh, N. C., and continued in his erratic career until struck with the idea of making money, when he returned to New York. He was immediately received with open arms by concerns who wanted his name and incidentally the prestige of his father, and in a few months was hiding for a court order for arrest for contempt of court.

In fighting his son's last venture, the Thomas A. Edison, Jr., Chemical Company, the senior Edison declared that his son never invented anything and was incapable of making an invention. He said the company was organized with his son at the head simply to suggest to the public that he, the senior Edison, had something to do with the manufacture of "electro magnet vitalizers," that cured every ill.

FOUR LOST LIVES IN FIRE.

Boy Fatally Hurt and Cattle Buyer Injured.

St. Joseph, October 7.—Four persons lost their lives in the burning of the Tracey home South St. Joseph today.

The dead:

LAFAYETTE FREW, aged 50 years.
C. F. NORTON, aged 34 years.
JOSEPH DILLINGHAM, aged 50.
MRS. ANNA WESTON, of Gentry county, Missouri.

Gilbert Weston, 13 years old, son of the dead woman, was fatally burned, and William Simons, a cattle buyer, was badly hurt by jumping from a third story window. The fire started in the kitchen of the hotel, which was a frame building, and the guests and boarders were aroused with difficulty. The three dead men were boarders and unmarried.

Coal Drivers on Strike.

Cincinnati, October 7.—A strike of 300 coal drivers here was accompanied by violence today. One nonunion driver was badly hurt, being assaulted as he was hauling coal. There were two arrests for interference with other drivers. With the thermometer close to the freezing point, the poorer classes in the city and all classes in the suburbs are alarmed, as the coal companies are unable to make deliveries.

Women's Rain-or-Shine Coats

When Priestley & Co., of England, discovered a process that waterproofed fabrics without closing the pores—that said to the cloth "you must breathe, but not drink"—they built the foundation for this winter's fashion. Their process is called "cravenetting." The name can't be used by others; but the principle, to all intents, is used by many.

The first garments crowded out the hot, stuffy, gunning mackintosh of rubber. But now all characters of fabrics are rainproofed. It is done almost as cheaply as sponging, and so women are buying water-proofed Coats---in various degrees of dressiness.

No mortal eye can tell from the looks that your Coat is "cravenetted" or otherwise treated to render it impervious to rain. It's to your own good satisfaction that that if, on any point, you are caught by a storm, it can't hurt you or your clothes.

Every number herewith described is a notably good value. And we believe no Southern store has an equal collection.

$10.00 Cravenetted Rain Coat, light weight for early autumn, flat collar, epaulettes on shoulder, back finished with three box-plaits—tan, olive and Oxford.

$15.00 Cravenetted Rain Coat, medium weight, loose-fitting back box-plaited to yoke, turn-over military collar, full box-plaited sleeves, tan, olive and Oxford.

$17.50 Cravenetted Rain Coats, semi-fitted back, Bishop sleeves surmounted with small cape, flat collar and cuffs of stitched cloth—sage, olive and Oxford mixtures.

$23.50 Heavy Cravenetted Rain Coats, yoke front and back extending into the skirt of the garment, broad plaits running from yoke to below waist line, full-plaited sleeves—tan and Oxford.

$30.00 Cravenetted Loose Rain Coats, full sleeves, shirred into shoulders forming yoke, inlaid white cloth and moire velvet collar and cuffs, trimmed with soutache braid, cord ornaments and Japanese embroidery.

$35.00 Cravenetted Tan Tourist or Rain Coat, fitted to form, box-plaited front and back, broad calfskin turn-over collar and cuffs, double-breasted front fastened with oxidized rimmed gray pearl buttons.

RATES TO AWAIT RESULT OF CASE

No More Circulars on Rates Are Expected at Present.

The railroad commission is just now busily engaged upon the injunction case brought to prevent the rates which it promulgated in circulars 301 and 302 from going into effect.

This case, as is well known, will come up for hearing today before Judge Newman in the United States court, and until this matter has been disposed of it is understood the commission will not issue any more circulars reducing rates along the lines which it has already mapped out for such rate reductions.

The commission, it is said, regards it as useless to make further rate reductions until its legal staus, which has been thus brought into question has been determined. Other circulars reducing rates would probably meet with the same fate as 301 and 302, but after the principle has been established, if it is in the commission's favor, it can carry out the plan it has determined upon and which is has already outlined in circular 301.

The commission confidently expects to win its case before Judge Newman. The main question will come on the demurrer which has been filed and argument on which will be made today. The commission hopes to secure an early decision in the matter.

CRUEL MURDER LAID TO WIFE

Idaho Man Shot Three Times and Chopped with Ax.

Boise, Idaho, October 7.—Charles Daly, a solicitor for a gas company, was murdered last night while in bed by being shot three times and struck on the head with a hatchet.

Some hours later Fred Bond, a roomer at the Daly house, informed an officer that Mrs. Daly had shot her husband. An examination was made and the body of Daly was found in a pool of blod, which had spattered over the bed and walls of the room.

Both Bond and Mrs. Daly were arrested, the latter swearing before a coroner's jury that she had shot her husband in self-defense. Later she swore that Bond did the killing, which had been arranged between them.

Bond declared that he is innocent.

THE ANNUAL STAG RECEPTION.

New Students of the Teck Entertained by College Y. M. C. A. Last Night.

The Young Men's Christian Association of the Georgia School of Technology, gave the annual stag reception to the new students in the chapel of the main building last night at 8 oclock.

An interesting program was rendered. After introductory remarks by Hary E. Fagan, the pesident of the association, Captain Lyman Hall delivered the welcome address on behalf of the college faculty.

Charles E. Hoke gave a vocal solo and D. Silverman rendered three violin selections. Interesting addresses were delivered by E. H. Thornton, president of the Neal Loan and Banking Company; David L. Beatie and D. E. Luther.

Among other things of interest, a movement was set afoot to build a $50,000 building for the association at the college.

GOSPEL REVIVAL HAS GREAT DAY

Funds So Far Secured Are Insufficient for Their Needs.

With every service crowded and requests for special prayer running up into the hundreds, the leaders of the Business Men's Revival campaign closed yesterday's efforts with a feeling of satisfaction over what has been accomplished so far in the gospel union movement.

In speaking of the work, Dr. R. A. Walton, who has charge of the north Atlanta district, said:

"Reports from all districts seem to indicate that the movement today reached its fullest scope in all respects. We had larger attendance, more interest manifested, a greater number of conversions, and more requests for special prayer. The community seems ripe for a revival."

Frank Dickson said in regard to the capitol district:

"We have gotten hold of the hearts of the people to a marvelous extent at this early stage. We will shortly have to arrange for an overflow meeting, as we can hardly accommodate the people now."

At 7:45 o'clock tonight, at the First Baptist, will be held a mass meeting of ushers and personal workers. These rally meetings of the active workers are very inspiring, and serve to fill the personal workers with enthusiasm, as well as educate them up to a point of successful work.

All who feel inclined to do active work in this campaign are invited to be present. It is, of course, anticipated, and is the duty of every personal worker and usher already appointed to be present at this time.

Regular Services Today.

3:30 p. m.—Rev. Daniel S. Toy and Frank Dickson at Wooddward Avenue Baptist church.

3:30 p. m.—Rev. Arthur J. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Boatman at Payne Memorial Methodist Episcopal church.

3:30 p. m.—Dr. Stagg, Presbyterian evangelist, at First Baptist.

3:30 p. m. Rev. R. A. Walton at St. Mark Methodist, assisted by C. F. Pugh, Welsh tenor singer.

7:30 p. m. Rev. R. A. Walton and Mr. Pugh at North Avenue Presbyterian.

7:45 p. m. Dr. Stagg at First Presbyterian.

8 p. m. Rev. Arthur J. Smith at Baptist Tabernacle. Splendid chorus singing.

8 p. m. Rev. Daniel S. Toy and Mr. Frank Dickson at St. Paul Methodist Episcopal church. These meetings are so well attended that in order to get good seats, it is necessary to arrive early.

Evangelist Appointments.

The leading workers of the revival at present are: Rev. Arthur J. Smith, Dr. R. A. Walton, Dr. Daniel S. Toy, and Rev. George Stewart.

The location of these evangelists for Sunday so far arranged, is as follows:

Dr. Walton at Baptist Tabernacle at 11 a. m. Dr. Toy at Wesley Memorial at 3:30 p. m. Meets for men only. Rev. George Stewart at Railroad Young Men's Christian Association at 3:30 p. m. Railroad men and families invited. There will be published tomorroy a full list of the services under control of Gospel Union.

More Money Needed.

The attention of the public is called to the fact an insufficient amount of money has as yet been raised. This work should not be allowed to suffer for lack of financial support. The published figures as to the actual amount of money needed has been exaggerated, and sufficient for actual needs has not yet been raised, while many who have already subscribed have not sent in their subscriptions.

Southerners Treated Liberally.

The publishers of the triennial general convention of the Episcopal church appointed today their standing committees. The south was given liberal representation. The bishop of Georgia was appointed a member of the committee on consecration of bishops, also the committee on admission of new dioceses, one of the most important in the list. The bishop of Florida is on the Christian education commission. The bishop of South Carolina on the prayer book committee, and the bishop of southern Florida on domestic commissions committee.

Many Automobiles Imported.

New York, October 7.—Automobiles to the number of 427 were brought to America through the port of New York during the nine months ended October 1, according to figures issued by Appraiser Whitehead. This is almost double the number imported during the same period last year. The total value of the 427 machines was $1,600,000, giving an average of about $3,750 for each machine. The duty paid on the machines at 45 per cent amounted to $720,000.

Cruiser Joins Frenca Fleet.

New York, October 7.—The French cruiser Julien de la Graviere arrived today from Sydney, Cape Breton, to join the other French warships which have been here for several days.

BARRY'S PLAN MISUNDERSTOOD

Suggested Negro Troops Only for a Few Isolated Forts.

General Barry was seen yesterday regarding his recommendation for the enlistment of colored troops in the artillery arm of the service. While General Barry declined to make any statement regarding his recommandations for the enlistment of colored troops in the artillery arm of the service, it was learned from the best of official sources that the recommendation of the general was greatly misunderstood and that there was not the least thought in the mind of the head of the department of the gulf to station colored troops in any of the big southern port cities.

It was suggested by one officer in a position to know, that even if General Barry had wanted to establish negro troops in the big southern cities neither the commander of the division nor the head of the service would permit it.

"But," continued this officer, "I know perfectly well that General Barry would be the last to recommend the establishment of negro troops in the big harbor cities. As a matter of fact, I happen to know that it was simply to save white men having to go to some of the unhealthy posts in this department that he made the recommendation. So far as Charleston and Savannah are concerned, why, of course, there are no more healthy posts that could be asked for and the thought of locating negro troops at such places I am sure never entered the mind of General Barry.

"If you will read the order correctly and carefully, you will see that only isolated and unhealthy posts are referred to and all of this excitement about the negro troops being stationed in any of the southern cities is entirely unnecessary. I happen to know that General Barry would never advocate such a move in the first place, and that the highest officers in the army would be opposed to it.

"It's simply this: There has been a great deal of trouble in getting men to stay in some of the obscure posts in this department where the water is bad and the conditions unhealthy. There are only two or three of them, but they are the kind that finds no reenlistments and recruits are only held with the greatest difficulty. Negroes are already acclimated to such conditions, and there are always more applicants among the colored than there is room for them in the army. I feel sure that General Barry's idea was simply to get negroes who would go to those posts and remain there which white men refuse to do again and again and with the discharge from the service invariably refuse to reenlist at such an unhealthy post. But there isn't the least bit of need for any worry about negro troops being located in any of the healthy posts where white men are infinitely more capable and desirable in every way."

Several army officers seem to be of the opinion that the greatest obstacle to the enlistment of negro troops into the artillery would be the fact that they are not mentally capable of filling positions in this arm of the service. The gunners have to make intricate computations, and a much higher standard is required in this way than in either of the other two arms of the service.

THEATERS.

The Grand.

If such a thing is possible, "Human Hearts," the alleged attraction at the Grand last night was worse than Little Rock, Arkansas, where part of the action takes place. Nothing much will be said about "Human Hearts." There isn't room to say much and like the kicking of a woman all around the stage, which is part of the "action" of this melodrama, what little could be said would be unfit for publication. Several persons were in the cast and a tiny child, who was saying stage prayers when she should have been in the bed that was waiting for her. Altogether, "Human Hearts" was about the most inhuman bit of suffering that has strolled this way for a long time.

ALAN ROGERS.

The return of Adelaide Thurston to the Grand Monday and Tuesday nights, with matinee Tuesday, brings back one of the most deservedly popular young artists on the stage. She is to be seen as the pretty, wilful little Georgetown heroine in Paul Wilstach's southern domestic comedy, "Polly Primrose." When written to for a story of the play by an admirer who did not see it last season, Miss Thurston wrote back that she did not believe it was fair to tell the answer before one heard the joke, and pointed out that to tell the story of a play without injustice to the play or disappointment to the reader is one of the most difficult feats possible. There are so many elements which contribute to a bright, vivacious comedy like "Polly Primrose," so much in the characterization in the mirthful spirit of the heroine, in the atmosphere created by the production, that it is probably fair to accept Miss Thurston's stand and go to see her with fresh and unsatisfied expectations. An evening with her in any character or play is a rare delight, but in "Polly Primrose" she has the greatest success of her career.

"A Desperate Chance," a new melodrama, by Theodore Kremer, will be presented at the Bijou next week.

A matinee this afternoon and a closing performance tonight will finish the engagement of popular Billy Clifford and his company of entertainers at the Bijou. The engagement has proven most satisfactory from every point of view and local theatergoers have recognized in the jovial little comedian an actor of merit.

The matinee this afternoon promises to be one of the largest of the present season and a large audience will be on hand tonight to give the clever performer a last farewell.

An attraction that is declared to be of extraordinary merit is the coming of Richard Carle, in the Dearborn theater success, "The Tenderfoot." Richard Carle himself, who has been identified from the first performance with this musical comedy, will be the star of the attraction.

Richard Carle's performance of Professor Pettibone, in "The Tenderfoot," is considered one of the brightest pieces of comedy character acting yet seen in this country. It is said to rank equally with the best achievements of Joseph Jefferson, Richard Mansfield or Nat C. Goodwin.

Cured of Asthma

After Years of Terrible Suffering.

Mary Josephine Bezy, Floyd Knob, Ind., writes: "After suffering untold agonies for 32 years from Asthma, I was cured by Schiffmann's Asthma Cure. I used to be so bad that I could not move without help, but I can now do all my own work." Another writes: "My little boy 7 years old has been a sufferer for several years, sometimes so bad off that we could not hold him in bed, expecting any moment for him to breathe his last. Doctors did him no good and we had almost given up in despair, when through accident we heard of Schiffmann's Asthma Cure, tried it and it almost instantly relieved him." Mrs. D. C. Harris, Elbow P. HAS NOT SPENT ALL ITS MONEY

Prison Department Has Good Balance in the State Treasury.

"What I objected to," said Secretary Goodloe Yancey, of the prison commission, speaking yesterday with regard to the refusal of Governor Terrell to issue the monthly warrant of the prison department, "was the statement that the prison department had no money in the state treasury to its credit.

"All I have to say is that the commission ought to have money there to its credit, for we have never drawn a dollar in advance and we have drawn only two months' allowance for salaries and expenses on the quarter which expired on September 30. Our September allowance ought to be there, and if it is not, it seems to me that it must have been used for some other purpose.

"This is not the first time I have held up the prison commission warrant for a week or two in order to accommodate the state until the treasury could be replenished, and I am perfectly willing to do it now, as it will not inconvenience the department if we can get our money by October 14 or 15. But I do not like to have it go out that there is no money in the treasury to the credit of the prison commission when we have not yet had our September allowance out of the $105,000 appropriated to us by the legislature. It might lead some to think that the department had overdrawn its account, when clearly such is not the case."

More Money Coming In.

The state treasury is replenishing its funds daily. Yesterday $5,000 was received from specific taxes and other sources, and there is now on hand $15,000 for general purposes, with very few payments to be made between now and November 1.

During the month there will come in $82,000 from convict hire, $35,000 from the lease of the Western and Atlantic railroad, and considerable more from specific taxes and other sources.

The convict money will be in by October 14, in good time to pay the prison commission its monthly allowance of $8,610. After the expenses of the prison department and the amount necessary to pay rewards for the capture of criminals have been deducted, the balance will be divided out among the counties which do not receive felony convicts from the state for working the public roads. Under the new law, these counties may use the money thus received either for school purposes or for improving their roads.

Captain C. T. Furlow, assistant treasurer, states that the warrants for the prison department and for the Tech never reached him, evidently because they were not issued by the governor. If they had come to him, he says, they would have been paid.

With regard to the Tech, it is stated the officials of that institution decided to await the end of the quarter and get three months' money at once, instead of taking the amount for one month at the present time. Governor Terrell stated he was ready to pay the Tech, but the school officials said they were perfectly willing to wait.

CONCERT FOR THE CHILDREN.

Fire Department Drum Corps Plays at Grant Park This Afternoon.

The fire department drum corps will give an exhibition drill and a concert for the children of Atlanta at Grant park this afternoon.

The firemen's drum corps is known from one end of the world to the other. Its trumpets and its drums announce the glories and greatness of Atlanta in a fashion those who hear remember forever. The latest triumph of this famous musical organization was recently achieved at St. Louis when the firemen marched down the Pike in spite of police and everybody else.

Now Chief Joyner and the firemen, who are all very fond of children, especially the little children of Atlanta who are one day to grow up and be firemen or something else just as good. So the concert was planned and the drum corps, arrayed in its brilliant red uniform, will drill and play for the pleasure of the boys and girls.

"Yaarab," the famous goat mascot of the fire department, will accompany the drum corps to Grant park and will be stationed where every little one can have a good, long look at him, for "Yaarab" is one of the greatest goats the world ever saw.

It is expected that thousands of children will be at Grant park this afternoon and Chief Joyner, the drum corps and "Yaarab" will do their level best to make the afternoon a happy one for the little folks.

DROWNED IN THEIR HOME.

Woman and Three Children Lost Lives in Flood.

Las Vegas, N. Mex., October 7.—Word has reached here from Chaperito of the drowning in the recent flood of the wife and three children of Francesco Lucero, formerly a member of the legislature from this county.

The women and children were at home alone the night of the storm and the water rose so rapidly that they were unable to get out of the house. The body of Mrs. Thomas Asosta, one of the victims of the flood, has been found near the town of Mora.

Reports of nine deaths come from the Red river country. Seven are reported drowned in the Rayado and there are indefinite reports from the Cimarron. It is believed the trains here cannot go south until Saturday night.

NOTHING DONE ABOUT ASPHALT

City Officials Have Done Nothing About Peachtree Street.

Chairman Terry, of council's committee on streets, has not yet made provision for the meeting of his committee at which the resolution that seeks to repair the Peachtree street asphalt would be considered. The measure is that of Councilman Amorous.

The general council will meet next Monday afternoon in special session for the purpose of considering the ordinance of the special committee, of which Councilman Amorous is chairman, regarding the Louisville and Nashville terminals. It would be possible at that meeting of council to act also upon the report of the street committee regarding the Peachtree street paving. Unless the committee meets, however, it will be impossible to take action, unless council chooses to call for the resolution and act upon it without waiting for a report from the committee.

The asphalt workers of the Southern Paving and Construction company will commence work early next week upon that portion of the asphalt which is between Pine and Ellis streets on Peachtree street. Were council to act during the meeting of next Monday afternoon it would be possible to have the entire street repaired by the same set of asphalt workers and without further delay.

The asphalt between Ellis and Pine streets is to be repaired at the request of President P. S. Arkwright, of the Georgia Railway and Electric company, who personally made arrangements for the repairing, despite the fact that there may be a lawsuit between the Georgia Railway and Electric company and the Southern Paving and Construction company regarding the question of responsibility.

The city officials are now expected to also become active and secure the repairing of the street from Pine street to the city limits at the same time that the ashphalt nearer the city is being made passable, as both stretches of the street are in a terrible condition.

COLD WEATHER STIRS UP TRADE

Yesterday's Fall of Temperature Boosts the Shopping Market.

The weather today is likely to be partly cloudy and no change in temperature is stated in the forecast.

Yesterday wasn't so cold for an October day, but it certainly did seem as though there was a regular cold wave that had drifted this way. According to the official records, the thermometer was only 4 degress below the normal for the entire day, but coming so fast on the heels of this August weather that has been Atlanta's share for this long time, it certainly seemed mighty cold.

Merchants throughout the city were more than glad to see the drop in temperature and there was a marked increase in the activity of the shopping market and the down town district was filled all day long with ladies. According to the merchants' stories, it takes just a day like yesterday to waken up the fall trade with a vim and any number of orders for coal went in to the dealers yesterday.

Another evidence of the drop in the weather market was the establishment of the storm doors in all of the larger office buildings. From now on Atlantans will have to swing themselves into the big skyscrapers through the revolving doors which are always one of the most unpleasant features of cold weather.

The Peachtree parade got out its glad fall uniforms and as the shop windows have been predicting, most every uniform was of a brown color that in some cases closely resembles khaki.

According to the weather bureau, the minimum thermometer yesterday was 58 degrees and the maximum 64, making an average of 61, or 4 degrees below the normal, which is 65.

There was nothing startling on the weather map yesterday. Clear weather prevailed at most stations except a small area of cloudiness in the southeast. Showers were reported in portions of Georgia and the Carolinas.

FIRST MEETING OF CONVENTION

W. C. T. U. Now in Annual Session at Eastman.

Eastman, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—The first meeting of the twenty-second annual state convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Georgia was held here in the Methodist church this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The convention will be in session for the next five days.

The annual address of the state president, Mrs. Jennie Hart Sibley, will be made this evening at 8:30 o'clock. Mrs. S. M. D. Fry, national corresponding secretary, of Illinois; Mrs. Lydia J. Newcomb Comings, of Ohio; Mrs. P. E. Taylor, of New York, and numbers of others of national and state prominence in the order will be in attendance on the meetings. Dr. J. B. Robins will preach the convention sermon on Sunday morning.

Woodruff Writes Roosevelt.

Washington, October 7.—Former Lieutenant Governor Woodruff, of New York, and William Berri, proprietor of the Broklyn tSandard-Union, were guests of President Roosevelt at luncheon today. Mr. Woodruff came to Washington by invitation of the president. The conference, it was said authoratively, had no reference to the vacancy in the cabinet, created by the death of Postmaster General Payne.

HEROIC YOUNG WOMAN BRINGS FATHER A GUN

CAMILLA, GA., October 7.—(Special.)—The sequel to the terrible tragedy in which Kim Smith and his son, John, were killed Thursday evening at Faircloth, proves Miss Jennie Gillenwaters, postmistress and daughter of Charles Gillenwaters, to be a heroine.

When the Smiths advanced upon her father and after they had shot at him she went into the rear of the store and getting a gun, which was loaded with buckshot, handed it to her father, saying: "Here, pa, take it and protect your life at all hazards."

Taking her advice, he opened fire on his antagonists and shot them down in their tracks.

The whole country side are loud in their praise of the plucky young woman in coming to the rescue of her father.

Today she is the recipient of several complimentary letters regarding her heroic action. It was stated tonight that threats are being made by the Smith faction to kill Gillenwater if he doesn't die. In case he lives, the grand jury of Mitchell county will not indict him.

SHORT ITEMS OF INTEREST

NEWS HAS REACHED THIS CITY of the death last Tuesday of Mrs. L. J Hamilton, of Buford, Ga. Mrs. Hamilton had many friends in this city, who will learn of her death with sorrow.

MYRTLE THOMAS, 6 YEARS OF age, after an illness of nine days, died of meningitis at the Grady hospital Thursday night. Funeral services will be conducted today from the residence, 148 South Boulevard. The interment will be at Hollywood.

MRS. S. DUGGAN, AGED 71, DIED at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the residence, 35 Young street. The body will be taken to Douglasville, Ga., Sunday morning.

THE BODY OF A. CORNELISON, who died of heart failure Thursday night, will be taken to his old home in Cherokee county this morning.

THE FUNERAL OF WALLACE Giles Mitchell, who died Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, was conducted at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning from the residence, 414 Piedmont avenue. The interment was at Oakland.

THE UNITED STATES CIRCUIT court of appeals was engaged yesterday in the presentation by the attorneys of the cases of Brumby v. Jones and Lazarus v. Steinhardt. Both were argued at length, and the latter was just completed when the court adjourned for the day. In the district court, Judge Newman presiding, a number of moonshine cases were disposed of, but none of them were of particular interest. The sentences imposed were all short.

THE LARGEST AND MOST IMportant meeting of Congregational churches convenes on the thirteenth of this month at Des Moines, Iowa. This convention is designated the triennial national convention of Congregational churches and has to do with the larger life of that denomination. Rev. H. H. Proctor, pastor of the First Congregational church of Atlanta, apart from having a prominent place on the programme has been nominated by The Congregational Index and The Boston Congregationalist as assistant moderator of the council. Rev. John Adams, pastor of The Pilgrim Congregational church at Columbia, S. C., has been elected to represent at this convention the entire list of Congregational churches in North Carolina. Rev. Adams stands as one of the leading colored Congregational pastors of America. He is at this time in Atlanta and will speak twice at The First Congregational church of this city on the coming Sabbath. The Atlanta and North Carolina delegation with Dr. Proctor and Rev. Adams will leave for Des Moines Monday morning.

JOHN CALLAHAN, OF 41 MARKham street, is the possessor of a peach tree that bears what is known as "October Peach." The fruit produced by this tree has the same flavor and same general appearance of an ordinary peach with the exception that it does not ripen until early in October. Mr. Callahan prizes his tree highly and it has attracted the attention of a number of orchard men.

FRANK EWINGS, A LAD OF 14 years, was thrown from a dray upon which he was riding yesterday afternoon, near the corner of Alabama and Pryor streets. In the fall, his left shoulder was dislocated, and his left leg was badly scratched. He was taken to his home on Terry street, where the necessary surgical attention was rendered.

THOMAS V. BROADNAX, A WELL known traveling salesman of Atlanta, directs the attention of the salesmen of Atlanta to the worthy case of a traveling man who has been confined in the hospital and needs funds to reach St. Louis, where a position awaits him. Mr. Broadnax has interested himself in the case and states that contriuotions made by salesmen will be returned.

ANOTHER CHANGE HAS BEEN made in the personnel of the court martial, which is to try Captain R. M. Hitch and the other officers who were at Statesboro, beginning on Monday next at Savannah. This time Captain H. P. Hunter, of Company F, third infantry regiment, Elberton, has been relieved on account of pressing business. He stated that he would serve if the governor required it, but that it would involve a large financial loss to him at this time. Under the circumstances, the governor relieved him and appointed in his stead Major E. E. Pomercy, of the fifth infanty regiment, Atlanta.

FOUR ALDERMAN LIVE OUTSIDE

Columbus Is Stirred Over Residence of City Fathers.

Statement Is Made That Aldermen Wynn, Key, Moncrief and Weiland Do Not Reside in Districts From Which they Were Sent.

Columbus, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Somewhat of a ripple has been created in local political circles by the statement that four aldermen live outside of the wards which they were elected to represent in the city council. They are Aldermen Wynn, Key, Moncrieff and Weiland. Alderman Key has already tendered his resignation to the mayor, and it will be submitted, it is understood, at the next meeting of council. Alderman Weiland has been a non-resident of his ward several months.

The city charter provides that in order to be eligible to the office of alderman a candidate must be a bona fide resident of the ward which he aspires to represent, but is silent on the question of whether he shall continue to be a resident of that ward. All four of the above-named aldermen were bona fide residents of their wards at the time they were elected, but since have moved to other wards. The general opinion is that in order to legally represent a ward a person must be a bona fide resident of that ward. The city attorney is looking into the matter.

Crawford Again Chairman.

Columbus, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Judge Reese Crawford will again head the city democratic executive committee, having been made chairman at the city mass meeting last night. He will appoint the new committee at his leisure. The meeting adopted resolutions providing for a white primary and making stringent regulations to prevent the purchase of votes.

Burglars Bored Into Store.

Columbus, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—The store of Robert E. Kavanaugh, at Lindsey's Creek, in this county, was burglarized at some hour last night and a quantity of merchandise and a small sum of money was taken away. The burglars affected entrance in a novel manner. They bored through the planks extending down into the ground on the side of the store, and by breaking off the end of one or two planks got under the store. They then boren holes through the floor and were enabled to saw their way through. This morning Mr. Kavanaugh found his cash drawer on a rock down on the creek some distance from the store. There were one or two coins left in it and a number of valuable papers.

Dr. Jameson Will Officate.

Columbus, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—It had been planned to dedicate the new North Highlands Baptist church Sunday, but on account of the inability of Dr. J. Y. Jameson, of Atlanta, to be present on that occasion the dedicatory exercises have been deferred for one week.

CHESTER TELLS OF FAR EAST.

Minister Gives Interesting Description of Japan and War.

Constitution Bureau, 467 Second Street, Macon, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Perhaps the most interesting feature in this morning's session of the Macon presbytery, which is now in progress at the Tattnall Square Baptist church, was Rev. S. H. Chester's description of Japan and discussion of the war situation in the Far East. Dr. Chester is secretary of the foreign board, and in his talk this morning showed that he has studied the people of Japan, their manners and customs as well as their religion.

The address of Rev. W. H. Sheppard, a negro missionary to the Congo Free State, was thrilling in its stories of adventure on the Dark Continent, and his descriptions were some of the most vivid ever listened to by a Macon audience. Rev. W. H. Sheppard is the only American minister who is a member of the Royal Geographical Society, of London, and is a mulatto of some distinction among his people.

Forty counties are represented by as many ministers at the convention now in progress, and many other delegates are also present. As the sessions of the convention will continue until Sunday evening it is said the programme for the remaining days will be fully as interesting as the one for today.

Game Seems Assured.

Macon, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—For a time Macon people were a little afraid the Auburn-Georgia football game, which was scheduled for Thanksgiving day here, would not be pulled off because of a reconciliation said to have been made between the University of Georgia and the Georgia School of Technology. But now the game in Macon seems practically assured, and with the Georgia-Florida game here on October 15 to build up Macon's enthusiasm for the sport the chances will be good for a large attendance at the game on Thanksgiving day.

Mrs. Bowers Dead.

Macon, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—At the age of 60 Mrs. J. Bowers died at her home on Water street, in East Macon, early this morning. The funeral took place this afternoon, Rev. J. M. Lawrence officiating. The interment was at Fort Hill cemetery.

Fast Horses for Fair.

Macon, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—That world famous quick stepper, Cresceus, together with George H. Ketcham, his millionaire owner, of Toledo, will show off before the sight seers at the coming state fair. In a communication received this morning by Vice President George A. Smith, of the Macon Fair association, from the horse owner, it was stated that Cresceus will be included in a string of six horses to be in Macon with their owner for 10 days during the fair.

THROWN INTO BANKRUPTCY.

Round Lap Bale Company Now in Court's Hands.

Montgomery, Ala., October 7.—The Alabama Cotton Products Company, handling exclusively roundlap bales, receivers for which were appointed yesterday, today was thrown into involuntary bankruptcy on petition of the Consolidated national bank of New York and Samuel G. Bogert, also of New York, and Michael Flynn, of Pike Road.

MEN ARE RUSHED ACROSS BORDER

Altmans and Harvey Are Now Held at Brunswick.

Brunswick, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Sheriff Mattox, of Charlton county, and nine deputies, arrived in Brunswick today with Hilary and Charles Altman and Ivy Harvey, the three Baker county outlaws, who are charged with the murder of two or three men, which occurred on the Alabama, Georgia and Florida passenger train, in Charlton county, just across the Georgia line.

Sheriff Mattox started from Jacksonville to Waycross with his prisoners, but learned that there was talk that a mob was being organized among the friends of the Altmans to take the prisoners, vowing that they would not permit the officers to bring the men across the Georgia line.

To avoid any trouble, the sheriff decided to come to Thalmann and bring the men into Brunswick, and thence proceed to Waycross. They were carried to that city this afternoon, and will be kept there until the superior court convenes in Charlton county October 25.

All three of the men were seen by The Constitution correspondent, but refused to talk.

A Process Reversed.

(From The Washington Star.)

"You regard campaign calculation as a distinct branch of mathematics?"

"Yes," answered the crudite personage. "The method differs from all others. You start with the answer and then work backward and evolve a problem to demonstrate it."

Bond Election Called.

Elberton, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—The city council of Elberton has ordered an election to be held November 10 to decide on issuing $20,000 four and one-half per cent. bonds for the purpose of putting in a sewerage system in connection with the water works.

BUSINESS COLLEGE PRESENTS STARTLING FACTS

Southern Shorthand and Business University Gives Valuable Information.

Business education pays, there's no doubt about it; that is, the right kind of business education.

The last six governors of Georgia endorse and recommend the Southern Shorthand and Business University of Atlanta as the college that gives the right kind of business training. All the mayors of Atlanta during the past 15 years do likewise.

Four-fifths of the business and professional men of this city know a good thing when they see it, and they say the "Southern" is the best. They judge by the efficiency of the graduates. This school has only 1,500 at work in the various offices of Atlanta alone, that's all.

Nearly 300 hundred pupils in daily attendance at the Southern Shorthand and Business University, as against twenty-five to sixty at the other business schools, indicate the same thing—the Southern is the best, hence the most popular.

Mr. C. E. Currier, the president of the Atlanta National Bank, says: "Having had frequent opportunities of testing the merits of the Southern Shorthand and Business University, I take pleasure in stating that I regard their method of teaching up to date and thorough in every respect. The Atlanta National Bank has in its employ several young men who received their business education in this college, who are performing their duties satisfactorily."

The "Southern" teaches the Graham system of shorthand, the best in the world. Out of 640 United States court reporters, 340 use the Graham system, the next most popular system having only 77 writers.

Mr. H. D. Strauss, who learned to write the Graham system at 125 words per minute in four weeks' time, writes from Albany: "I am holding my position with the railroad all right. Have no trouble whatever."

Mr. Strauss' record is unparalleled in this country. The managers of the Southern have offered to bring him in contest with any pupil of any other school in the whole country, but no one accepts. Mr. Strauss' case is an exceptional one, and the "Southern" could produce more exceptional ones than any other college in the south, but it does not hold up the exceptions as the rule of all.

It is one thing to write shorthand, but it is another thing to be a stenographer.

One young man entered the Southern to learn typewriting; you know the "Southern" has a typewriting department with over 50 machines, and under the supervision of a special teacher. The young man said he had learned in another school to write 130 words per minute in shorthand. He was tested by the "Southern," at his own request, and it developed that he could write and read only 50 words a minute.

The "Southern" not only teaches its pupils to write shorthand, but it makes stenographers out of them. It takes time to do this. There are twenty-five or thirty pupils in the school now who can write 125 words per minute, but they are not stenographers yet; the Southern is training them in the more essential features, without which they would be only shorthand scribblers.

The Southern teaches bookkeeping, too; but not only so,—it makes bookkeepers out of its students.

Much could be said along this line, but a call at headquarters over on the Viaduct would convince any one that Atlanta has the most practical and up to date business college in the south.

Pupils are entering daily, and as fast as the students become competent they secure positions. Catalogues free. A. C. Briscoe, president; L. W. Arnold, vice president, Atlanta, Ga.

ATLANTA, GA., October 8, 1904.

Today comes the freight rate tug of war in the federal court.

Indian winter seems to have stolen a march on Indian summer.

Autumn poetry is in order, but there's no poetry in that coal order.

The 12,000,000 bale estimate is attracting a good deal of betting money.

The apathy complained of in the present campaign is more republican than democratic.

Exasperated by this strange Roosevelt-ian calm, Mont Pelee has gone to erupting again.

Charlie Towne and Bourke Cockran will make a great congressional pair for Tammany to draw to.

Those life preservers loaded with iron are for all the world like republican promises on the trust question.

The prevailing feminine style of brown is enough to drive a man to contract that dark brown taste o' mornings.

The democratic party does not seek to destroy the tariff; it merely seeks to give the consumer some show for his pocketbook.

Mr. Bryan is scheduled to make 52 speeches in Indiana in eight days, from October 12 to October 20. That will be talking some.

The shibboleth of the Massachusetts democracy is reciprocity, and the $3 shoe man is going to lead the stand patters a lively chase.

Tom Watson deserves more sympathy than censure since Dick Pettigrew flew the democratic coop and lit on the populistic roost.

The administration failed to spike any democratic guns, as it expected, when it made a democrat governor-general of the Philippines.

Carl Schurz: "The government of this country must be a government of law, not of adventure." And then the bullseye bell rang.

Count Okuma, the eminent Japanese statesman accuses General Stoessel of gross dissipation at Port Arthur. Well, it's a fighting brand.

There is plenty of Herrick money offered in New York with no takers. Herrick's nomination has gone far to insure the state for Parker.

Kuroki seems to be attempting to turn the Russian left above Mukden as he attempted to turn it at Liao-Yang. May he have better luck this time.

Evidently Candidate Roosevelt has discovered that "the cowards and weaklings who want peace" hold the political balance of power in a national election.

The republican national committee has sent warning letters to the local party managers in Indiana, telling them that the trend in that state is decidedly toward the democratic party.

If the prosecution of the beef trust by the federal department of justice was sincere and to a finish, would the beef trust favor Roosevelt's election and contribute liberally to that end?

The son of Count Tolstoi predicts that Russia will not only win in the present war, but that she will conquer the whole world. The Tolstoi family seems to be playing both ends against the middle.

Viewed by comparison with other administrations, and even the McKinley administration, which conducted an expensive war, the extravagance of the short Roosevelt term almost staggers belief.

The czar declares it is too early to hold another international peace conference. Russia's capacity to take punishment is as large as her physical proportions, and evidently she means to be whipped game.

A lawyer of St. Paul is trying to have an adverse verdict set aside because several jurors slept during the greater part of his argument. Evidently that lawyer missed his calling. He should have been a preacher.

The Boston Herald speaks of Senator Aldrich as "general manager of the United States." This will hold good on analysis. The senate controls the government; Aldrich controls the senate, and the trusts control Aldrich.

Spooner and the Primary System.

Perhaps Senator Spooner should not be too harshly criticized for utterances delivered during his present period of disappointment over the decision of the Wisconsin supreme court, which has knocked out, temporarily at least, his "stalwart" ticket by declaring the LaFollette side of the house the simon-pure, name-blown-in-the-bottle republican organization. The senator is feeling pretty badly these days, and there is a reason for it.

In a speech he delivered in Milwaukee on the heels of the obnoxious decision, he grew eloquent in picturing "the decay of representative government" if the people persist in their present inclination to follow the advice of Governor LaFollette. Going a little further into the details of the issues which are convulsing that state, the senator launched a beautiful flow of invective against the proposition to have the nominations for offices made at primary elections. He is quoted as declaring that "under our representative form of government, the people could not any more select their representatives en masse than they could try their own lawsuits."

The Wisconsin senator, like the other bosses of the old regime, dies hard. He has been so long accustomed to boss dictation that he can see no possible hope for the republic if any than the old methods prevail.

To the people of states like Georgia, where the primary system prevails, this utterance of his sounds very like a wail from the dark ages. The people cannot make their own selections for office? And pray why not?

Senator Spooner's ex cathedra declaration would not be very convincing under any circumstances; but it is inconceivable that any public man could make such a statement in the face of the facts as they stand demonstrated in a large number of states.

Almost without exception, the primary system prevails throughout the southern states. The people do select their own officials without any help from bosses or the intervention of any manipulated convention. Where conventions remain they exist solely as a matter of form through which to register the will of the people previously expressed at the polls. The primary system is no longer an experiment. It has been proven a success; it gives perfect satisfaction; it has come to stay.

Rip Van Winkle Spooner should wake up.

Truth Surpassing Fiction.

It is not so very many years since Jules Verne gave to an incredulous world his fantastic tale, "Around the World in Eighty Days." The story was entertaining as "Gulliver's Travels" is entertaining, but so far as belief in its possibility was concerned, was regarded as a good deal on the order of Bellamy's "Looking Backward." Possible, perhaps, but far from probable, was the reader's verdict.

Yet in 1903, writes Arthur Judson Brown, in the current Review of Reviews, James Willis Syre, of Seattle, Wash., traveled around the world in just fifty-four days and nine hours. Mr. Brown says the Russian minister of railways has issued the following "schedule of possibility" to become operative when the Trans-Siberian railway is free to develop its passenger traffic plans: "From St. Petersburg to Vladivostok, 10 days; Vladivostok to New York, 14 1-2 days; New York to Bremen, 7 days; Bremen to St. Petersburg, 11-2 days; total, 33 days.

A journey of the kind in that short space of time would be possible today were it not for the military demands upon the Trans-Siberian railway and the poor condition of its roadbed in places, preventing the usual European rate of railway speed with safety. The connection by water would be close and certain, and this writer remarks that the risk of such a journey would be an almost negligible factor. He says he traveled for fifteen months in all sorts of conveyances in India, Japan, Korea, China and Siam by railway, ponies, chairs, river boats, sea and coasting vessels, and even by elephants, with alleged possibilities of danger of every description—cholera, plague, robbers, religious fanatics, tigers, snakes, poisonous insects and what not, but absolutely without injury, delay or special discomfort. Mr. Brown says:

As for the risks incident to such a tour, it is significant that for my own journey around the world a conservative insurance company, for a consideration of $50, guaranteed to indemnify me against injury to the extent of $50 a week and in case of death to pay my heirs $10,000; and the company made money by the policy.

Viewed in the light of modern transportation development, the world does not seem so infinite in space, and all the peoples of the world seem kin.

Still Hiding Behind Hay.

The republican organs throughout the country are spreading with great circumstance of detail an announcement made by Professor Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California, that he has had assurances of the retention of Mr. Hay in the office of secretary of state in case Mr. Roosevelt is elected. As this announcement came immediately after a long heart-to-heart talk between Professor Wheeler and President Roosevelt at the white house, it may be regarded authoritative

The real significance of the prominence which the republican organs are giving this report lies in the implication it carries that they acknowledge the dangers involved in turning the foreign policy of this government over to the military imperialist who is their party's candidate for the presidency, and they endeavor to hide the president behind Mr. Hay.

"Mr. Hay will stay," is their campaign slogan. "Roosevelt may be dangerous, we have no doubt he is," they continue, "but as he has graciously declared his intention of retaining Mr. Hay in his present job, all will be well."

All of which may satisfy dyed-in-the-wool republicans, but what is there in it to inspire confidence in the hearts of the business men of the country? What, for one thing, is there in the record of Theodore Roosevelt to warrant the hope that he will be true to any promise he may make in the face of aspiration for office? Where is there a single question upon which he has not changed front? What promise of his earlier life has not been repudiated when it has been found to conflict with his political chances? What possible reason can the people of this country have for believing that once safely entrenched in power, he will not take the bit in his teeth and either override Mr. Hay or force his resignation that some willing puppet may be found to take charge of the state department and do his master's bidding?

And what about Mr. Hay? He has several times declared his intention of resigning the office he holds. What assurance is there that he would remain if asked, or that even if he did for form's sake take the office temporarily, he would not resign at an early date?

The country has no such assurance—can have none. Therefore, the only thing tangible in this "Hay will stay" campaign cry is to emphasize the more pointedly the fundamental weakness of the republican candidate for the presidency and the possible danger to the country involved in his election.

The American people must decide, not between Judge Parker and the peace-loving Mr. Hay, but between Judge Parker and the Rough Rider war lord, Theodore Roosevelt.

Administration "Pernicious Activity."

Never in the history of American politics was there such a disregard for the proprieties of the presidential office and of the cabinet as is being evinced by President Roosevelt and his official family at Washington. There was a time, in the purer days of the republic, when to do what President Roosevelt and his cabinet do in the way of "offensive partisanship" would have been regarded as a national scandal.

Recently a meeting of the cabinet was held in Washington. The business nature of the meeting can be gathered from the following press dispatch from Washington:

Statements of republican apathy by Chairman Cortelyou formed the chief topic at the cabinet meeting today. Letters were read from state chairmen to Mr. Cortelyou, who also told of his personal investigations in different states. He said that the apathy was due more to over-confidence and to lack of interest than to any unfriendliness toward the president. This idea was shared by Mr. Roosevelt. Ways to inject enthusiasm into his campaign were discussed. An alarm was sent out to state and district leaders. Mr. Cortelyou will spread the alarm broadcast.

The foregoing is only a sample, but it is a fair sample. It remained for Theodore Roosevelt, sometime civil service reformer and stickler for decent ethics in office-holding, to prostitute the highest office in the gift of the people to the lowest ends of party politics. Other administrations in their zeal for a second term have built up a colossal administration machine, to a limited extent perverting the uses of government to personal political aggrandizement and partisan advantage, but up to the advent of Roosevelt there has been a deadline of political decency beyond which the most audacious ambition has not dared venture. But all administration machines of the past were tame affairs compared with the brazen creation that Theodore the First has erected to compass his perpetuation in office. It has turned the presidential office into a vast campaign bureau, after having demonstrated its complete mastery of the republican party at the Chicago convention. This bureau, conducted by the nation's chief executive in person, not only sends out the officers of the cabinet on the stump, but turns meetings of the cabinet into party councils, at which is called in the chief's field lieutenant, Cortelyou.

This is simply going too far. Heretofore our presidents have respected the great dignity of the presidency to the extent of at least assuming to administer the affairs of government in the interests of the whole people, rather than of a party.

The Roosevelt machine seems to be utterly without ethical scruples. If reports from the field are true, there was never another presidential campaign in which federal patronage and the system of financial assessment of office-holders to swell the campaign fund were resorted to so extensively and so shamelessly to influence the result of the election.

The Integrity of China.

It is reported from China, but unofficially, that our old friend Wu Ting Fang, the former popular Chinese minister to the United States, has been selected by his government to visit the principal world powers for the purpose of entering upon diplomatic negotiations looking to the preservation of the integrity of China after the close of the present war in Manchuria.

The importance of such a mission is obvious, although its success at this uncture is problematical. So far as the United States are concerned, it is probable that the Hon. Wu would meet with any reasonable encouragement, for our policy as to Chinese integrity has been made unmistakable, even emphatic. The same, in a less pronounced degree, is probably true of Great Britain. On the continent of Europe it is douptful if the Celestial emissary would meet with much encouragement. The governments of France and Germany are pro-Russian in their sympathies and have a watchful eye upon possible spoils of their own when the partition of China, actually begun by Russia, is finally carried out. The other continental powers are also playing a waiting game, and most of them are suspicious of England.

In the event that the Japanese succeed in driving the Russians out of Manchuria and in keeping them out until peace terms are concluded between Tokio and St. Petersburg, in all likelihood Manchuria will be restored to China intact and even the lease on Port Arthur abrogated. Japan is pledged to such a course, her only condition to the reinstatement of complete Chinese authority in the stolen province being that Manchuria shall be open to the trade of the world without discrimination. China has nothing to fear from a Japanese victory, nor has the world, so far as the "open door" is concerned.

A Russian triumph is apt to mean the very opposite. The Russian occupation of Manchuria would be made permanent and extremely burdensome to the Chinese inhabitants, while the other powers would have to intervene to secure fair terms of trade in the Russianized province. Indeed, there is reason to fear that a treaty of peace dictated by Russia would be the signal for the complete dismemberment of the Chinese empire.

It would be well in advance if the powers would come to an understanding on the vital question of Chinese integrity, regardless of which of the belligerents proves the victor. The victory should be made empty for either of them, so far as designs on Chinese territory are concerned. The powers should not permit any recouping of war expenditures at China's expense, in or out of Manchuria.

Wu Tang Fang is peculiarly fitted for such a delicate and important mission, and it should succeed on its merits. The commercial powers of the world are all parties at interest in the final fate of Manchuria and the integrity of China.

ATLANTA'S MAYORALTY.

Dalton Citizen: For spectacularity Atlanta beats a circus when it comes to electing a mayor.

Augusta Chronicle: From the best information obtainable, it would seem that the Atlanta mayoralty candidates used everything in their campaign except trading stamps.

Augusta Chronicle: The Stockdell faction in the Atlanta mayoralty race may well exclaim "too many cooks spoil the broth"—or the Brunswick stew, politically speaking, as the case may be.

Albany Herald: Woodward has been mayor of Atlanta before and was unfortunate in some respects, but nobody ever questioned his honesty or his loyalty to the city and people. There were five men in the race yesterday, and some of them have been flying higher than Woodward, the printer (he's an old printer), but the people of Atlanta have made no mistake in electing him. One strong point in his favor is that he has no corporation string tied to him.

Savannah Press: Mr. Woodward has long been connected with the city government; he is thoroughly conversant with public affairs. During the recent meeting of the legislature, one of the committees of the house was bombarded during the whole of a summer afternoon by the big wigs and the little wigs, the local and legal lights which flicker around the city. The question was the extension of the limits and the erection of new wards. Those who heard all of the speakers and city politicians declared that Jim Woodward was the best posted man on local affairs of the bunch. So, while the two factions of the police force were scheming and pulling for their respective favorites, Jim Woodward's friends made a long pull, and a pull together, and lifted their favorite over the hurdle. It required all of Captain Howell's personal popularity and ability to keep Jim Woodward out before.

PETTY THIEVES ARE BUSY.

Ponce De Leon Saloon Was Broken Into Early Yesterday Morning.

The petty thieves of the city, principally negroes, have been busy of late, and have been causing the police considerable anxiety by their activity.

Early yesterday morning the Ponce de Leon saloon was broken into and a small amount of cash taken from the register. The owner was notified and found it necessary to watch the place, as the fastenings were broken and it was impossible to lock it again.

This is the second time this saloon has suffered from night attacks, though the loss was greater on the first occasion.

Late Thursday night, Henry Jones, a negro boy, was arested by Officers Hamilton and Manier. The officers state that a spoon from Durand's was found on him, and that he confessed to being a participant in another robbery which occurred recently. They state that he said he and three companions were arranging at the time of his capture to rob Goodrum's cigar store, at 5 North Broad street, a store room.

Thursday afternoon Call Officer Abbott was called out to Fourteenth and Spring streets. He found that two white women living there, who wash clothes for a living, had just frightened a negro off the premises by emptying a gun at him.

It seems that there is a spring near by the house, and the two women, one being Mrs. Morgan, were down at the spring, washing the clothing. One of them finally went to the house to get something and found a negro getting ready to appropriate the clothing on the clothes line. She frightened him off. A little later Mrs. Morgan went up to the house and found him there again. She used a gun, and the negro failed to return again. When the officer arrived he found both women washing clothes at the spring, with big revolvers sticking in the waistbands of their aprons.

Thursday night and Friday morning the call officers were kept busy in answering calls of little consequence.

"JUST FROM GEORGIA."

Longin' for the Home-Place.

Longin' for the home-place—singin' day an' night:
"'Cross the worl' to Georgia, where the cotton fields are white!"
Old folks dreamin' of it—strainin' of their sight
To see the hills of Georgia, where the cotton fields are white!

Great worl' an' wide worl'—
Weary o' the race,—
Dreamin' still of Georgia
An' the old home-place!

Longin' for the home-place—daisies in the dew—
Violets, where your sweetheart used to pin 'em on for you!
Skies are dark an' cheerless, time is slow in flight—
All the worl' for Georgia, where the cotton fields are white!

Great worl' an' wide worl',
An' somethin' in each face
That speaks of dreams of Georgia
An' the old home-place!

A Billville Farmer's Journal.

Already the folks at home are planning a trip to Europe. We can sail over on twenty cotton bales.

I met the sheriff yesterday, and he lifted his hat to me. I feel real sorry for the poor man: he hasn't foreclosed a mortgage this season.

Just traded three bales of cotton for a fine piano, and yesterday I leased a whole circus, and invited the settlement to front seats.

I keep so busy these crisp days counting cotton bales that I'll be compelled to hire a man to help lend out my money.

I'm going to quit growlin' at the weather, and everything. The big sun rises like a silver dollar now, and sets like a gold one!

No Damage Done to Kansas.

Camden, N. J. October 7.—General Manager Hall, of the New York ship building company, today made a statement concerning the fire last night on the battleship Kansas in course of construction at the yards. He said there was postively nothing suspicious about the fire and that the damage to the ship amounts to nothing. It was erroneously reported last night that the fire had occurred on the cruiser Washington.

Wires Work to Alaska.

Seattle, Wash., October 7.—Telegraphic communication has now been reached between Seattle and all parts of Alaska, an official dispatch received yesterday announcing this fact.

RATE HEARING BEGINS TODAY

Strong Array of Legal Talent Before Judge Newman.

Railroads Will Seek to Show That State Commission Has Not the Legal Right to Reduce Rates in Georgia—State's Contention.

The injunction asked by the Central Trust Company of New York against the Georgia railroad commission and the demurrer will occupy Judge Newman's time in the United States court this morning. And the indications are that the controversy will be one of the most strenuous and absorbing Atlanta has known in quite a time.

The members of the commission, Hon. J. Pope Brown, Hon. Warner Hill and Hon. Joseph M. Brown, are all in the city and spent the afternoon with their attorneys, Hon. John C. Hart, attorney general, Judge J. T. Hopkins, Hoke Smith, and other counsellors engaged in the case discussing, digesting and completing the line of work contemplated for the day before Judge Newman. The plaintiffs will show their side of the case through A. H. Joline, a leading member of the New York bar, and King, Spalding & Little, of Atlanta. While it has not been stated just how the differences between complainant and defendant will be handled, it is presumed that the argument will be first on the injunction, and after that feature has been completely sifted by the attorneys the demurrer will be taken up for debate and consideration. The argument on both questions having been finished, Judge Newman will take the matter in its duplex form—the injunction and the demurrer—under consideration and at some subsequent period deliver his decision.

The points at issue are of vital importance to the people of the state and in those points the plaintiffs, live representatives of Georgia railroad lines, are as equally interested. In its essence the right of the Georgia railroad commission to regulate certain freight rates within the confines of the state is questioned, and along with the question comes an effort to override the ruling of that body. Some time ago the Georgia railroad commission, after frequent complaints had been made and heard as to the freight rates on certain stuff charged by certain lines, issued circulars 301 and 302. Circular 301 reduced the rates on certain or specified manufactured articles 25 to 50 per cent when the shipment was from Atlanta to Macon or to Augusta or to Columbus or to Athens. That circular when issued became within itself effective September 26.

Circular 302 called for a reduction of the rate on sirup from practically all stations on the Atlantic Coast Line to Atlanta from an average of 25 cents a hundred pounds to 17 cents a hundred pounds, while the rate then prevailing to Columbus was reduced to 15 cents a hundred pounds.

The edict by the commission was not relished by the now applicants for an injunction. The attorneys for the applicants, Joline, King, Spalding & Little, assert that the Central Trust Company of New York is the owner of and trustee for $7,000,000 of the income bond and that to permit the ruling of the commission to prevail would amount to a confiscation of the applicants' property. It is asserted that the railway lines affected were or are on the eve of paying the first dividend known in a long time and then declares that the enforcement of the orders of the railroad commission would make absolutely impossible the payment of that dividend.

That the dual question will be contested closely and at every point there is not the slightest doubt. Attorneys generally, to say nothing of the business men and citizens, are vitally interested in the situation and there will in all probability be a large crowd present when Judge Newman takes his seat this morning.

THE JONESBORO CITY COURT.

The New Court Was Established and Officers Elected on Last Wednesday.

As the result of the election of last Wednesday the city court of Jonesboro, with misdemeanor jurisdiction over Clayton county, has been established and it will be presided over by Judge Eugene Blalock, the solicitor being Hon. John T. Hutcheson, who practices both in Atlanta and Jonesboro, his residence being, however, in the latter place.

The court has the same jurisdiction as the two city courts of Atlanta, presided over by Judge Reid and Judge Calhoun. It can try all misdemeanor cases and has the same civil jurisdiction as applies to all other city courts in the state.

Judge Blalock and Solicitor Hutcheson were elected by very complimentary majorities and they are now getting ready to enter upon the discharge of the duties to which they have been assigned by the voters of Clayton county.

Court will be formerly opened on the first Monday in next January and will have monthly and quarterly sessions.

OFFICER MORRIS IN NEED.

Policemen Are Raising Money for Assistance of Wounded Officer.

The men at the police station are raising money for the aid of W. T. Morris, a member of the force, who is at present in the hospital and unable to report for duty.

Officer Morris was wounded some three or four weks ago while in the discharge of his duty by a negro, whom he was trying to arrest.

He has a wife who is sick in bed and a young child.

Fewer Freshmen at Yale.

New Haven, Conn., October 7.—In commenting on the decrease of the number of freshmen this year, The Yale News today says that the rigidness in the examinations in ancient and modern languages and bad business conditions in the west were two potent causes. The net decrease in entrants is thirty-nine in the university.

Herr Most To Move West.

New York, October 7.—Herr John Most is reported to have announced his intention of removing to Chicago. He has resided tor some time in the Bronx, but is said to have reached the conclusion that there is more enthusiasm of ideas in the west.

LOCAL TAX LAW IN GRAVE DOUBT

Will Take Full Count To Determine Fate of Amendment.

In Some Counties Local School Taxation Amendment Was Carried, and in Others It Lost Out. Passage of Other Amendments Assured.

Meriwether county gave a considerable majority against the constitutional amendment relating to local taxation for school purposes; Muscogee gave a fair majority in the amendment's favor.

And so it runs through the twenty-odd counties from which Secretary of State Phil Cook had received up to yesterday, the returns of last Wednesday's state election. One county gives the amendment a majority while the next turns it down. The voting is close throughout the list of those counties heard from.

While no definite prediction regarding the fate of the local school taxation amendment can be based on the returns received from these twenty counties, the indications are that the amendment is running a close race with defeat.

Considerable doubt has developed in the minds of the state officials as to the fate of this amendment, and it is evident from the returns so far received that nothing but the official count will tell the story. It will be some ten days or two weeks before the returns will arrive from all the counties, but enough of them may be in hand by the end of next week to decide the fate of this amendment.

A Perplexing Question.

Another perplexing question has also arisen. With regard to the ratification of constitutional amendments by the people, the constitution says "the people shall ratify such amendment or amendments, by a majority of the electors qualified to vote for members of the general assembly, voting thereon."

The question is whether this means the amendment, in order to be ratified, must receive a majority of the votes of all those voting in the election, or a majority only of all those voting on the amendment. A large percentage of those who voted in the state election voted neither for nor against the amendments. Of course these votes were not counted at all, and the total vote on the amendments for and against will be far less than the total vote cast. It may happen, therefore, that the local school taxation amendment will receive a small majority of the votes cast in the election. What the effect of this situation would be, is yet to be determined. It is probable the matter will be submitted to Attorney General John C. Hart for his opinion.

Other Amendments Carried.

The indications from the returns of the twenty-odd counties now in hand are that the three other constitutional amendments have been carried. These relate to limitation of tax rate to 5 mills, increasing the number of counties from 137 to 145, and increasing the number of representatives from 175 to 183.

Practically all of the counties heard from have given good majorities in favor of these amendments, and the returns received from over the state indicate, also, that these amendments have been carried. These returns point to the fact that these three amendments will receive a sufficient majority throughout the state to overcome any question that might be raised on the line of the constitutional provision above quoted. The majorities will evidently be in each case, majorities of all the votes cast.

There was a light vote cast throughout the state except in those counties where there was opposition for the legislature and county offices from republican, populists or independents. These counties were, however, few in number. It is thought the total vote in the state election will be about 25,000.

Franklin County.

Carnesville, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Franklin county went democratic in Wednesday's election, it being the first time all the county officers have been elected since the days of the Alliance yard stick. The majorities are large, ranging as high as 858, in favor of J. J. Rampley for sheriff, over Ace Carson. Populism in politics in this county is a thing of the past. Amendment for county tax levy carried by 225 majority. Amendment for increasing school fund lost by 200 majority. Amendment for increasing number of counties lost by 458 majority.

Wayne County.

Jesup, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Total vote in Wednesday's election 289. Amendment to increase counties, carried by 75 majority. Amendment increasing members of legislature carried by 71 majority. Other two amendments limiting tax rate and permitting local taxation for schools, lost.

Gwinnett County.

Lawrenceville, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—In the state election yesterday, the total vote polled was 1,397. All four amendments lost. The one limiting ad valorem tax rate by majority of 53; local taxation of public schools, by a majority of 345; increasing representatives, by a majority 313, and increasing number of counties, by a majority of 272. For judge of the city court, E. Winn Born was successful, receiving 693 over L. F. McDonald's 659. For solicitor of the city court, James N. L. Hutchins, Jr., defeated James W. Green by vote of 648 to 585.

Negro Killed at Supper.

Elberton, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—At a negro hot supper on Arch Moss's place, some one, not yet identified, shot and killed Rick Maxwell. There was a rucas over some whiskey, and in it Maxwell was shot.

BROTHERLY LOVE AGAIN PREVAILS

Bitterness of the Campaign Begins to Fade Away.

Leading Citizens Are Becoming Reconciled and Talk of An Independent Candidate Has Been Absolutely Brought to An End.

The fact that the feeling of enmity that was manifested during the campaign which ended last Wednesday and which was also noticeable on the day after the primary, is beginning to disappear, was observed yesterday by leading citizens of Atlanta with much gratification.

The talk of an independent candidate has also practically ended. On the night of the primary and on Thursday rumors were freely circulated that an independent candidate would be found for the general election, and this was based principally upon the fact that Alderman Woodward, the nominee, was nominated by a vote that was less than one-third of the total vote polled.

Yesterday leading citizens of Atlanta, including Mr. Stockdell, Colonel Goodwin, Captain James W. English and Fire Chief W. R. Joyner, who is to succeed Mayor Woodward in office, stated that they would oppose the candidacy of an independent candiate and some of them even went so far as to declare that they would devote both time and money to secure the election of Alderman Woodward as mayor in the event an independent had the temerity to offer against him.

Bitterness of Election Day.

On the day after the primary the bitterness that was expressed on all sides was noticeable. The friends of Mr. Stockdell freely stated that their principal object had been to secure the defeat of Colonel Goodwin, while the friends of the latter announced that they would rather have had anybody in the world elected than Mr. Stockell.

These views were so different from those usually expressed in Atlanta on the day after primaries that they were remarked upon. Usually on the primary nights tickets and dodgers are thrown into the air when the polls close, and those of the opposing sides spend the evening together in perfect friendship. Upon this occasion, however, men who could had no object in the world in securing the nomination of their favorites except the satisfaction of supporting a winner, gave themselves over to bitterness and envy, and in that state many of them remained during Thursday.

This feeling is now disappearing. The citizens who supported the losers are beginning to realize that everything in the world did not depend upon the nomination of their favorites ad that there is something to live for after all.

All of which augurs well, especially in view of the fact that it has absolutely killed any expressions in favor of the candidacy of an independent.

Ward Primaries Successful.

The statement that it was problematical as to whether the ward primary movement was carried yesterday caused Councilman Martin F. Amorous, of the sixth ward, one of the supporters of the movement, to be heard from.

"Certainly the ward primary movement was successful at the polls," he declared. "The city executive committee was seeking an expression by the people. They were given that expression and it was overwhelmingly in favor of the ward primaries.

"The question as to whether the movement secured a majority of the votes cast is a technicality that need not trouble the members of the committee. If technicalities are being looked for is it not a fact that those who failed to vote at all voted on both sides of the question, because every ballot contained expressions both for and against ward primaries? If those who did not mark their ballots are counted as having voted on both sides the ward primary movement carried by a large majority.

"Where an expression of the people is desired, as it was in this case, there is no reason why those who did not care enough about the matter to vote should be regarded as voting against ward primaries.

"This was not like a bond election, where a certain percentage of the people must actually vote in favor of bonds. It was simply an expression for the benefit of the city executive committee, and there is no mistaking what that expression is."

Count in the Fourth Ward.

The fact that it was the policeman at the fourth ward polling place, and not the managers in the fourth, who prevented newspaper men from entering the room while votes were being counted was stated yesterday by the managers in that ward.

The managers drew their table close to a window in order that the count might be in public and they invited newspaper men into the room. Later the policeman at the fourth ward polls stationed himself in the doorway and it was he who prevented the newspaper men from entering. He did so without being instructed or requested.

While it was stated yesterday morning that the newspaper men were not allowed inside the room in the fourth ward while the count was being made, there was no intention to reflect upon any of the managers or the member of the subcommittee from that ward. An announcement of their names would of itself be sufficient to refute any intimation.

DUNCAN CARRIED TO BIRMINGHAM

Large Crowds Witness Progress of Murderer Through State.

Noted Outlaw of Alabama Brought From Florida and Taken to the Scene of His Crimes, Where He Will Pay Death Penalty.

Montgomery, Ala., October 7.—(Special.)—Frank Duncan, murderer and safeblower, and general all around crook, with a guard of a party of officers of the law from Birmingham, reached Montgomery, en route to Birmingham early this morning, and attracted a large crowd to the Windsor Hotel barber shop, where he was taken for a shave.

After that he was given breakfast on the train in the presence of as many spectators as could crowd into the car and hang on to fences and structural iron of the depot shed on the outside.

Duncan, himself, took the whole matter coolly, only asking Detective George Bodeker, to whom he was chained to give him a little more room to reach the ham and eggs, and get at the coffee, the first meal of any consequence he had had since he left Jacksonville, Fla., several hours before.

The party of officers in charge of the convicted prisoner was composed of Sheriff Andrew Burgin, Chief Deputy Sheriff Albert Stradford, Chief of Police William E. Wier, Police Detective George Bodeker and Patrolman Burke, all of Birmingham. They had no trouble with the prisoner since the trip to Alabama was begun. He has talked of his actions and movements since getting away from the Birmingham jail, and seems to regard the whole affair as a great joke. He knows that he is going to be hung, and says that the only thing they want of him in Birmingham is to "take off his top."

Attracted Crowd.

Just after the train pulled into the union depot the party, with Duncan chained to Detective Bodeker and manacled with an extra pair of handcuffs, dropped off and filed out of the car, looking for a barbershop. Almost at once it was realized by the crowd around that a prisoner of importance was in custody, and by the time the barber got his lather stiff, he had an audience that filled the street almost back to the river aqueduct. Duncan kept up a running fire of jokes and seemed amused at the crowds and the interest he was attracting. Breakfast had been ordered from the union depot dinning rooms and as they got back to the coach, it was served to the prisoner from the seat in front, with as much assistance as could be rendered by half dozen willing hands.

No Trouble.

Duncan showed a happy mien and gay temperament and seemed to have become resigned to his capture. All along the way he told stories and discussed his capture. He was almost in possession of $48,000 in the Florida bank he tapped, and as a result of which he was captured, and if he had gotten that, he told Chief of Police Wier, that he would have gone west, bought a farm and settled down. It seems a matter of the greatest regret that he failed to make this last connection, regarding the matter in the light of having been deprived of what he should have had.

Makes Him Laugh.

Duncan gets the most fun out of the nitroglycerine incident in the Florida town. He says that for several days he had been saving out a little molasses out of his meals and putting it aside. Getting enough to color the water, he fixed up a bottle of the misture and had it ready. He planned to do the grand bluff act when he was arraigned in the court room and then escape during the excitement. He desisted in this, however, because there were a number of women on the front seats and he was afraid some of them would be killed in the panic. His next idea was to make the attempt in the jail where it was made. Every time he talks of the fright given the whole crowd he laughs heartily.

Duncan is under sentence of death for the murder of a policeman in Birmingham three years ago. He has exhausted the last right of appeal and will be hanged in four weeks. Sheriff Burgin has spent many dollars trying to get him back.

EXPLOSION INJURES FIREMAN.

Boiler Tore Shelter to Splinters and Cut Down Tree.

Covington, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—At Gordon yesterday afternoon a steam boiler at the ginnery of Ed Ryals, Sr., exploded, fatally injuring the negro fireman and seriously wounding a negro boy. The explosion made a terrific noise, shaking houses for several miles around and greatly frightening the women and children.

The force of the explosion was so great that the shelter under which the engine was stationed was torn into splinters and the big boiler hurled a distance of 100 yards, striking a big elm tree which it cut in two and buried itself in the ground just a few feet from the Central railroad depot.

See Way Out of Muddle.

Washington, October 7.—Although the officials of the department of justice decline to give an opinion on the subject for publication, it is understood that it is their belief that as the vacancy in the office of postmaster general occurred during the recess of congress, the president is authorized to designate an acting postmaster general to serve until former Secretary Cortelyou is ready to assume his new duties as postmaster general, instead of for thirty days only.

LUXURIOUS LIGHTING.

It is not enough that the drawing room, the library, or the "den" be lighted. The illumination must be artistic.

The richly wrought silver candlestick and candelabra are never more graceful than when lighting the modish dining table. Electroliers that are marvels of beauty in bronze and crystal, shed a softened light which lends indescribable charm to their surroundings. The conceptions are charming. The designers have made prominent use of this graceful idealized human figure.

gineers of the railroads, the object being that such supports shall be designed so as to interfere with the use of the property by the railroads as little as possible. The structure to be carried on two rows of steel posts placed forty (40) feet from center to center.

4. Be it further ordained, That said railroads shall, when this ordinance is adopted and by them accepted, enter into a good and sufficient bond in the sum of not less than one hundred thousand ($100,000) dollars, to be approved by the mayor and the city attorney, conditional to faithfully and diligently perform all the undertakings and requirements of said railroads set out in this ordinance.

5. That for the considerations passing as shown by this ordinance, and because it is to the general welfare of the city, it is further ordained, that contemporaneously with the execution and delivery to the city of deed of conveyance as herein contemplated for the changed location of Waverly place and the execution of the bond by the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern Railway Company for the performance of its undertakings as herein provided, the city of Atlanta ordains that Waverly place as now located be abandoned and the changed location be, and it is hereby, substituted in place thereof, and that the city will make no further claim to the ground where Waverly place is now located as a public street or way, and that the mayor of the city of Atlanta shall execute and deliver a quit claim deed in the name of the city of Atlanta conveying to the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern Railway Company a relinquishment of all such rights, title and interest as the city may have in and to the said Waverly place as at present loacted.

The said railroads shall pay all expense that may be incurred in removing or changing electric or other conduits, water and gas mains and sewers located in said Waverly place, and in all other streets where they make any alterations or excavations under this ordinance, and in addition said railroads shall arrange with the Georgia Railway and Electric Company for the reerection and connections of its tracks and overhead construction rendered necessary by the changes herein contemplated, all without cost or expense to the city.

6. That the said railroad company, by accepting this ordinance, agrees and contracts with the city of Atlanta that it will contribute and pay into the treasury of the city of Atlanta $50,000 in cash, to be used in the construction of a viaduct on the extension of Washington street over said railroad property whenever the city determines by resolution to build said viaduct and calls for said money, and upon the payment of said $50,000 the city of Atlanta will adopt a resolution directing the mayor to execute a conveyance in its name quit claiming all the city's right, title and interest in and to Waverly place as changed to the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern Railway Company, its successors and assigns: Provided, that should the city of Atlanta be prevented by legal proceedings from making said quit claim conveyance, said $50,000 shall nevertheless be retained by the city and used for the construction of said viaduct.

7. That the city of Atlanta will convey and grant to the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern Railway Company the present No. 2 fire engine house property, fronting on the east side of Washington street, as now located, and facing upon the present Waverly place, upon the condition and for the consideration that said railroads shall convey unto the city of Atlanta the property located at the southwest corner of East Hunter and Washington streets, fronting 50 feet on Washington street, and extending back west, even width with front, on a line with East Hunter street, 125 feet, by warranty deed conveying fee simple title, which title shall be approved by the city of Atlanta; and upon the further consideration that the said railroads shall construct a new and modern fire engine house according to plans approved by the building inspector and chief of the fire department for a standard fire engine house, and in a manner acceptable to said officers.

8. That for the consideration passing between the parties, as shown by this ordinance, it is further ordained that the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern Railway Company, its successors and assigns, be and are authorized to install, construct and operate their tracks, structures and terminal improvements across Washington street below grade, to a point coincident with the north line of Waverly place as changed, and upon receiving the quit claim deed from the city of Atlanta as provided in paragraph 6 hereof, they may build and operate the same to a point coincident with the south line of Waverly place as changed hereby, so that the said Washington street shall be left subject to the construction of a viaduct as contemplated by the provisions of this ordinance; and nothing is to be done by said railway in making its said improvements, to prevent such viaduct from being so constructed and maintained in accordance with the plans herein outlined. When said viaduct is so constructed the rights and easements of the city for viaduct purposes as herein provided shall exist and continue from a point coincident with the extension of the southern line of Waverly place as relocated, notwithstanding the right hereby given said railway to so cross and use the same beneath said viaduct.

9. That the city of Atlanta and the said railroads may receive the fullest benefit from the improvements contemplated, it is further agreed that the following changes may be made at and over the streets hereinafter named:

(a) Piedmont Avenue—That authority and consent is hereby given to said railroads to abandon and remove a part of the structure now existing over Piedmont avenue, and to raise the remainder of the said structure crossing said street, and to construct additional structures over and across Piedmont avenue. The south side of said structures will be south of existing structures about 156 feet, and will be so construced as to leave a minimum clearance over said street of not less than 11 feet, which is the minimum clearance of the existing struotures over said street: Provided, however, that the existing grade on Piedmont avenue shall not be changed; and provided, further, that the general plan and style of said structures shall be the same as that of the structure already existing over Piedmont avenue as shown by plan entitled "Proposed Rearrangement for Piedmont Underpass," which is marked "Exhibit No. 1" and is hereto attached and made a part hereof.

(b) Butler Street—Authority and consent is hereby given to said railroads to raise the existing structure, over said Butler street about 2½ feet, provided, that if at any time the railroads should find it necessary to strengthen the existing structure by increasing the depth of the floor, it shall be done in such manner as not to reduce the present minimum clearance of 11 feet.

(c) Grant Street—Authority and consent is hereby given to said railroads to extend the present structure on Grant street southwardly a distance of about 60 feet; said structure to be of the same general plan and style of the existing structure over said street as shown by plan entitled "Sketch of Proposed Extension of Grant Street Underpass," which is marked "Exhibit No. 2," and is hereto attached and made a part hereof. Authority and consent is hereby given to make a change in the grade of said Grant street south of and beneath the proposed new structure according to plan "Exhibit No. 2" so as to maintain the existing minimum clearance under said structure of 11 feet; provided, that in changing the grade of said street said railroads will, at their own expense and cost, and subject to the approval of the city engineer, make the necessary change of the sewer, and will also reconstruct the street, curbing and sidewalks where said change of grade is made and leave the same in like condition as now exists, and shall, at their own expense, relay the street railway tracks in accordance with the requirements of said street railway company.

10. Be it further ordained, That all damage to abutting property or other damages to property and persons by reason of, or arising from, the construction, reconstruction and extension of said underpasses, streets, sewers, walks, walls and roadways, shall be borne and paid by the railroads, except damages to abutting property caused by the construction of Washington street viaduct.

11. Be it further ordained, That all work and all material used in building and constructing, or making any change in any of the streets, underpasses or overhead bridges, shall be satisfactory to the commissioner of public works, and according to plans approved by the city engineer.

12. Be it further ordained, That when this ordinance is adopted and approved by the mayor and accepted by the railroads it shall constitute a contract between the city of Atlanta and the railroads, and, except where the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern Railroad Company is alone interested, the rights and privileges ordained by this ordinance shall inure to the benefit of said three railroad companies, their successors and assigns.

13. Be it further ordained, That said railroads shall have sixty days after the acceptance of this ordinance to begin the work herein provided for.

14. The sum of $50,000 herein agreed to be paid by the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern Railway Company shall, when paid, be set apart, and is hereby specifically set apart and apportioned, for the construction of a viaduct, being a continuation of Washington street over the right of way of the Georgia railroad property, and extending to a point on Courtland street near either Gilmer or Decatur streets, as the mayor and general council may hereafter decide. It is hereby especially ordained, that said sum as received aforesaid shall not be used or set apart for any other purpose or improvement.

15. That the petitioning railroads shall, by acceptance of the privileges and grants herein made, agree and undertake, and it is hereby made a consideration that they will maintain the overhead structures at Piedmont, Butler and Grant streets in a safe condition and light the same, so that travel underneath same shall not be interfered with or rendered unsafe; and, further, that these overhead structures shall not interfere with the roadbed or pavements underneath same so as to damage same by reason of improper drainage or other causes.

16 That all ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance be and the same are hereby repealed.

SHORT OF MISSION FUNDS

Many Dioceses Fail to Raise Apportionment.

THE DEFICIT REACHES $217,000

Episcopal Triennial Convention Yesterday Devoted Great Part of Session to Missions.

Boston, Octobr 7.—The triennial Episcopal convention today met as the board of missions, the house of bishops and house of deputies sitting together. There was much interest in the session because of the widespread criticism of the apportionment plan for the assessment of dioceses in support of the general mission fund.

The report of the secretary showed that many dioceses had failed to raise their share of the apportionment. The total missionary receipts during the year from all sources, save legacies, were $675,000, an increase over the preceding year of $19,000. The apportionment for last year was $630,000 and the receipts to apply upon it were $413,000, or a shortage on expectations of $217,000. The board, however, is not that sum in debt, but merely fell short of that amount in its requests of the church.

A large part of the day was voted to a discussion of methods of improving the missionary organization and system.

Bacot Declared Not Guilty.

New Orleans, October 7.—A special from Magnolia, Miss., says: "The jury today returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of J. L. Bacot, who has been on trial here for the murder of Mrs. I. W. Vanwilde, wife of a merchant. Great interest was displayed in the trial.

Yellow Jack Under Control.

Mexico City, October 7.—Dr. Lycega, president of the superior board of health, says the yellow fever is under control, and that the sanitary campaign will be continued until the disease is banished from Mexico. Merida has only one patient in the hospital; Contzacoalcos has four and Acayucan has four.

EXPLOSION KILLS ELEVEN

Three Shells Burst in Belgian Magazine.

MANY SOLDIERS WERE INJURED

Fort Completely Wrecked by Concussion—Shells Were Being Placed in Magazine.

Antwerp, Belgium, October 7.—A shell exploded this morning in a fort at Saint Marie, at Callao.

Later it was announced that three shells exploded, and that eleven soldiers were killed outright and many injured. The explosion occurred while the shells were being placed in the magazine, which was completely destroyed.

Mineola Wrecked on Reef.

San Francisco, October 7.—The merchants exchange has received a cable dispatch from London stating that the steamer Mineola, Captain Kirkwood, bound from Petropavlovsk, Siberia, for this port, struck a reef off the Tigil bar on September 5 and became a total wreck. The officers and crew were rescued and taken to Hakodate, Japan, by the British warship Algerine.

WILL NOT CALL EXTRA SESSION

Governor Cunningham Announces Decision in Court Matter.

Alabama's Chief Executive Has Stood Out Against Very Strong Pressure Brought in the Lusk Judiciary Bill Affair.

Montgomery, Ala., October 7.—(Special.)—Acting Governor R. M. Cunningham announced today that he would not call a special session of the legislature to straighten out the judicial tangle.

He has stood out against the most strenuous pressure probably ever brought to bear on an Alabama executive and resisted.

The courts of the northern portion of the state are badly disorganized and need some kind of help.

The reason for the refusal are found in the fact that the failure of the new or Lusk law places the courts back as they were; congested conditions can be met by special judges and solicitors and nothing that the legislature could do would validate acts of the outlawed courts.

DEATH OF MRS. D. W. APPLER.

Well Known Atlanta Woman Died Last Night After Long Illness.

Mrs. Emma R. Appler, wife of Mr. D. W. Appler, the well-known railroad man, died at midnight last night at her home, 35 West Baker street, after an illness extending over seventeen weeks. Mrs. Appler's condition had been critical for the last few days and her death was not unexpected. She leaves a husband and two sons, C. E. and W. W. Appler, of Chicago, and a daughter, Mrs. Augustus Vreeland, of New Orleans, all of whom were at her bedside at the final dissolution.

Mrs. Appler was a consistent, devout member of the First Baptist church and for a number of years has been associated with the Daughters of the Confederacy and the Atlanta Woman's Club.

The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

CAPT. BROTHERTON INJURED.

Hip Was Wrenched and Knee Cap Cut in Accident Yesterday Morning.

While taking his morning bath early yesterday, Captain W. H. Brotherton slipped on the floor of the bath room and fell, receiving injuries which may keep him in bed for several weeks.

His knee cap was badly cut. His hip was also wrenched and sprained. This was the same leg that was injured about twelve years ago in a street car accident.

For awhile Captain Brotherton was unable to get to his room, but several men working on an adjoining house which is being erected by Captain Brotherton came in and lifted him up, placing him in bed. Dr. Nicholson was called to his assistance and dressed the wound.

Captain Brotherton is at present unable to move about and it is thought that he will be obliged to stay indoors for several weeks, though his improvement may be more rapid than expected.

NEGROES CONDEMN THE CLUBS.

Bapists Declare No Before Day Clubs Exist Here.

Forsyth, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—The Middle Georgia Baptist Association has been in session here since Wednesday. The introductory sermon was preached by Rev. W. F. Strickland, of Macon, Ga. The officers for 1905 were chosen, as follows: Rev. F. M. Simrions, of Marietta, moderator, and G. H. Thomas, of Hawkinsville, clerk.

After organization, a resolution was offered by Dr. W. G. Johnson, of Macon, president of the general state Baptist convention, condemning lawlessness and crime in every form among our people. The principal thoughts contained in the resolution are these:

"Whereas, The negro race is passing through a crisis, a period of adjustment that is fidgety, feverish and dangerous, and

"Whereas, Because of the alleged and actual crimes committed by members of our race, the whole race suffers the stigma of those heinous offenses; be it

"Resolved, That we make this public declaration upon the subject of crime and criminal:

"Resolved, That we do not condone crime, and have no patience with the criminal element of our people that brings reproach and suspicion upon us as a race. As to the rapists, we believe that the men who despoil female virtue deserve to die the death, and we pledge ourselves always to act in unity with other people in any effort to punish the guilty in a legitimate way.

"Resolved, That the charge that negroes have secret organizations, 'Before Day' clubs or any other kind designed to rob and murder white people does the race a great injustice. Many years' affiliation with our southern white citizenry has developed in the negroes that high regard for them that forbids the toleration of such infamy as 'Before Day' clubs."

Rock Plant at Oglesby.

Elberton, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—This week T. J. Davis, of the Chesapeake Stone Co., paid over the price and received the deeds to quarry rights near Oglebsy, in this county, and is now engaged in installing a $75,000 rock crushing plant. The company has a contract with the Seaboard to furnish ballast all the way from Portsmouth to Atlanta.

Falling Cotton Kills Negro.

Covington, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Reuben Dumas, an industrious negro farmer, of this county, died this afternoon from the effects of injuries received at the Gate City ginnery here several days ago, caused by a 600-pound bale of cotton falling on him.

Tramp Horribly Mangled.

Covington, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—A negro tramp lying asleep on the railroad track near the station at Gordon was run over by a freight train at 12 o'clock today and horribly mangled. He was picked up by the crew of the westbound passenger and carried to Macon.

Democratic Headquarters Is Stampeded by Enormous Cat From Thomson.

New York, October 7.—(Special.)—Consternation was caused at democratic headquarters today by an enormous cat sent in by express as a mascot by an ardent democrat of Thomson, Ga., the home of Thomas E. Watson, the populist candidate.

The feline when released from the box in which it had been shipped endeavored to make up for its two days of confinement all at once, and capered around the office in such a lively manner as to almost upset genial Tom Taggart, the national chairman, whom the cat struck amidships at its first bound.

CHILDREN'S DAY AND RALLY.

Interesting Exercises Occur at Trinity Sunday Schhool Tomorrow.

At 10 o'clock Sunday morning, Trinity church Sunday school will observe Children's day and Rally day.

They have recently enlarged their Sunday school room on the south side of the church, so it now accommodates almost 1,300 people. This Sunday school is one of the largest in the city, and its exercises are always of unusual interest.

The following excellent programme has been arranged for Sunday morning:

Song by the school.
Prayer by Colonel E. W. Martin.
Song by the school.
Recitation by Miss Elise Foote.
Song by the children of the intermediate department.
Remarks, "Our School"—W. C. Mansfield.
Vocal Solo—Miss Mae Hartsock.
Offering.

Sermon by Dr. H. S. Bradley.

State Committee to Meet.

Montgomery, Ala., October 7.—(Special.)—The state democratic committee has been called to meet in Birmingham next Tuesday to adopt plans to meet the confused judicial nomination situation in the counties affected by the outlawed Lusk judiciary law.

MUSIC SUNDAY BY MALE CHOIR

Gregorian Chant Will Be Heard in Sacred Heart Church.

High mass will be resumed in the Catholic church of the Sacred Heart tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. The occasion is noteworthy for the reason that for the first time the new male choir will be heard, pontifical high mass will be sung for the first time in the church and the seventh year of the pastorate of Rev. Father John E. Gunn, D.D., will commence.

Right Rev. Benjamin J. Kelley, D.D., bishop of Savannah, who arrived from Rome only a few weeks ago, will sing the pontificial high mass, assisted by the clergy of the parish.

During mass the bishop will preach and give the papal blessing. Atlanta Catholics will be glad to see and hear the bishop after his return from a long visit in Europe, where he had several conferences on church matters with Pius X, the head of the Catholic church.

The famous choir of the Sacred Heart that for the past five years gave such varied and high class music will be replaced on next Sunday by an exclusively male choir. The new music will differ very much in length and in character from the old.

The brilliancy of a mixed choir will be wanting; the solo parts will be fewer and less varied; the musical parts of the services will be much shorter, but it is expected that the charm that always attends an exclusively male choir rendering the old Gregorian and Palerbruno chants so suited to church service will more than compensate for any lack of color and brilliancy. Doctor Browne has succeeded in meeting and mastering an extremely difficult situation in a very short space of time.

Father Gunn begins on Sunday the seventh year of his rectorship in Atlanta. His work in the church and the magnificent Marist college he built have made him one of the most influential and best known ministers in the city. His friends, Catholic and non-Catholic, are glad that he is to remain at the head of a work which means so much to Atlanta.

SOCIETY

A Word in Time.

"THIS is the time of all others that women must take care of the skin," emphatically declares the face specialist. "The winds are at hand that blow the dust right in the madam's skin; that skin has become dry; there is no perspiration to help throw off the particles of dust, and unless good care is taken, the skin far from losing the summer tan will add to it, and probably have combined with it that dryness and roughness that mars the beauty of the most attractive face."

Say what you will about "letting nature alone," the woman who neglects her complexion regrets it, and if taken in time, there is no reason why every woman should not have a good, clear skin. It is absurd to suppose that at times the skin does not as the hair or the teeth, need special attention and the woman who neglects to do so is failing in her duty to herself.

"What must I do," asks the woman. "I have used grease in abundance and I massage my face every night according to the directions of the beauty column."

"How do you know your skin needs grease?" asked another.

"It is as dangerous to doctor one's own skin some times, as it is to try to administer in a case of illness without a doctor's directions.

The smart woman, who appreciates what her complexion means, goes to a woman who makes the skin a specialty, and from her she can find out what treatment to pursue. Until then, she runs a risk in using indiscriminately powders, lotions or soaps that may be generally advertised.

A woman has to be careful even about the cleansing process, warm water being the worst for some skins, while very cold water is equally harmful to others.

Ford-Cullen.

MR. JAMES FORD, of Louisville, Kentucky, and Miss Mae Cullen, of Savannah, Ga., were married Thursday afternoon, October 6th, by Rev. White in the parsonage of the Second Baptist church.

Lea-Sala.

THE wedding of Miss Rosa Eugenia Lea and Mr. Otto Sala, of Keokuk, Iowa, which takes place on the 12th of October at noon at the home of the bride-elect in High Shoals, will be an event of interest to a large circle of friends throughout the state. The wedding will be beautiful, the idea of pink and white to be carried out in every detail, both of costume and house decorations.

The bridesmaids will be Miss Carrie Prince, Miss Sarah Foster, of Madison, and Miss Nowell, of Monroe.

The groomsmen, Mr. William Lea, of High Shoals; Mr. Frederick Horn, of St. Louis; Dr. Grimwood, of Fort Madison, Iowa.

The bride's gown will be of white crepe, trimmed in rose point lace. She will carry bride's roses.

MRS. LEE JORDAN TO MARRY NICARAGUAN MINISTER

MRS. ILAH DUNLAP JORDAN, OF MACON,

Who Will Marry Senor Don Luis F. Corea, the Nicaraguan Minister to the United States.

Noted Georgia Beauty Will Soon Wed Don Luis F. Corea, a Distinguished American Diplomat.

MACON, GA., October 7.—The family of Mrs. Ilah Dunlap Jordan, of Macon, was informed today by letter from Paris, that on November 1, at her home in this city, she would be married to Senor Don Luis F. Corea, minister plenipotentiary from Nicaragua to the United States, the ceremony to take place in this city.

CROP MOVEMENT CAUSES WORRY

Railroads Kept Guessing as to Plans of the Farmers.

The railroads this year are having lots more trouble in handling the cotton of Georgia than ever before according to the testimony of several railroad men. Not serious trouble at all, but rather annoying because they can't figure just what the farmers and planters are going to do. This situation is especially true in south Georgia and it is all caused by the prosperity of Georgia farmers and planters.

It's this way. In previous years as soon as the cotton was picked it was hurried to the markets sold and shipped to the mills or the big commission merchants. This year it's different. Since the season opened the farmers and planters have been holding their cotton for better prices. This is especially true in the southern part of the state. To start with the farmers and planters said they wouldn't sell a bale for less than 10 cents. Later they believed that better prices were in sight and they held it for a still higher figure. In previous years they have been compelled to sell their cotton at once to meet pressing obligations. This year they are in a much more independent position.

The cotton crop last year brought good prices and as a result the farmers and planters had money at the end of the season and since that time have not had to do anything like the credit business of former years. Then early this summer came the biggest fruit season in the history of Georgia which brought millions of dollars of ready money.

All of this means that the farmers and planters of Georgia are right now in a position to hold their cotton for good prices and this they are doing. It's this holding of bales in the ware houses that makes it difficult for the railroads to figure on the shipments. In previous years they simply learned what the total output of a certain section was going to be and made their arrangements accordingly for the cotton was, as a general rule, marketed as fast as it was picked. But this holding for high prices has put an end to that sort of figuring and they have had lots more trouble as a result.

It is estimated that 40 per cent of the crop has now been moved and all of the railroad men who are most conservative estimators are looking for more than an average crop. Just when it will be moved is a question that cannot be settled at present and all because the farmers and planters have more money than ever before and are in a position to hold their cotton and in a way dictate prices.

W. H. Howard, Jr., has been appointed secretary of the Southeastern Passenger Association, vice G. D. Langston, resigned. This order was issued by Chairman Joseph Richardson yesterday and was made effective from that date.

Mr. Langston, it is said, has accepted a position with a leading commercial house in Chicago and will hereafter make his home in that city.

Mr. Howard is one of Atlanta's youngest railroad men and has in the past few years risen with exceptional rapidity to his present position as secretary of the association. Mr. Howard is a native of Cartersville and is still under thirty years of age. He was formerly private secretary to John W. Akin, of Cartersville and later held the same position with S. H. Hardwick, at that time general passenger agent of the Southern railway. In 1902 Mr. Howard came into the office of Chairman Richardson as private secretary, from which position he rose through his ability to assistant secretary of the association, from which position he was made secretary by the order issued yesterday.

Although one of the young railroad men of Atlanta, he is one of the best known and comes into his new position with the best of wishes of a very large acquaintance of friends. Chairman Richardson said yesterday that he could not say more of Mr. Howard's ability than that he had won his every promotion by his own efforts and that he had ever proved himself most capable during his connection with the association.

About a year ago Mr. Howard was married to Miss Elizabeth Lumpkin, of Cartersville.

An order issued yesterday by General Agent S. E. Magill, of the Georgia railroad, confirms the report of the appointment of E. J. Burke as traveling agent with headquarters at Atlanta. Mr Burke is one of the most popular members of the cinder colony.

The following order was issued by the Atlanta and West Point Railroad Company and the Western Railway of Alabama:

"Effective this date, the positions of traveling auditor and route agent, and supervisor of agencies will be abolished; the duties will be assumed by the inspector of agencies.

"John E. Wooten is appointed inspector of agencies, with headquarters in Atlanta, Ga.

"J. W. Hooks, formerly traveling auditor and route agent, has been transferred to the traffic department."

HALL-HAZEL.

Huntsville, Ala., October 7.—(Special.)—The marriage of Miss Nannie Belle Hazel to Mr. Edwin Hall was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Hazel. Rev. F. P. Culver, pastor of the First Methodist church, performed the ceremony.

ADAMS-HARWELL.

Covington, Ga., October 7.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Adams, of Starrsville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Fannie Lee, to Mr. Thomas Jewell Harwell, the wedding to take place at the home of the bride's parents, Wednesday, October 19th.

Miss Adams is the eldest daughter of Hon. D. J. Adams, a wealthy planter and prominent citizen of Newton county, and is a cultured and baeutiful young woman. Mr. Harwell is one of Covington's most prominent young business men, being connected with the firm of Swann, Davis & Company.

Testimony of a Minister.

Rev. Jno. S. Cox, of Wake, Ark., writes, "For 12 years I suffered from Yellow Jaundice, I consulted a number of physicians and tried all sorts of medicines, but got no relief. Patrician Shoes For Women.

The Patrician Shoe is today the favorite of fashion, the perfection of grace, the acme of comfort.

Undesirable flatness vanishes with the advent of Patrician Shoes, and in its place is that graceful, slender appearance so universally desired.

Perhaps you have had difficulty in finding a Shoe exactly adapted to your type of foot. Patrician Shoes are so carefully and scientifically modeled that it is possible for us to furnish a shape that will fit you absolutely.

A perfect fit combined with the equally essential qualities of style, fine workmanship and service is a rarity in footwear sold for less than $5.00.

But Patrician Shoes possess this rare combination in an eminent degree, and they are sold at $3.50, a price popular with all. No one feature is made unduly prominent. They are completely harmonious in all their excellencies.

See the Styles for Fall: Try them on.

Be posted in the latest Shoe happenings. You shall not be urged to buy. We prefer that PATRICIAN excellencies should speak for themselves. If the recommendation of once on your feet isn't sufficient to induce purchase, then you are under no obligations to us. We shall consider ourselves fully repaid by your visit to the store. PATRICIAN Shoes prove so much better than most women anticipate that it is really a pleasure for them to buy. They need no urging whatever.

Herewith is presented two popular new styles:

Lace Boot of Patent Colt, Blucher style, with medium heavy extension soles and military heels, dull mat kid top. All in all, a most graceful creation, sure to induce comment. $3.50.

Lace Boot of Vici Kid, in a rich shade of golden brown; medium heavy extension soles, military heels, medium round toe. Perfectly comfortable; excellent in style and wear. $3.50.

Should these fail to meet your requirements, here are a host of other styles, all original and exclusive. PATRICIAN Shoes measure fully up to whatever standard you may impose. The satisfactory solution of a comfortable foot in a handsome shoe; head and shoulders above all other $3.50 shoes made.

PATRICIAN Shoes are sold in Atlanta at this store alone.

REFUSES TO PREVENT RACE

Judge Denies Injunction Against Automobile Contest.

VANDERBILT IN COURT ROOM

In Decision Judge Declared Nothing Was Being Done by Auto Drivers.

New York, October 7.—Judge Wilmot M. Smith in the supreme court in Brooklyn today denied the motion for an injunction against the Automobile Association of America, the object of which was to prevent the 300-mile automobile race over Long Island roads tomorrow for the W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., cup.

The question argued before Judge Smith was whether or not an injunction should issue restraining the automobile association from conducting the race on certain thoroughfares in Nassau and Kings counties.

The petitioner was George M. Bennett, of Hempstead, L. I., secretary of the People's Protective Association of Nassau county, whose counsel argued that the race was planned to take place on highways from which the general public was to be debarred from early on the morning of Saturday until the middle of the afternoon of that day, solely for the gratification, he said, of those who wanted to learn how fast an automobile could be driven.

Attorneys for the automobile association and for the board of supervisors of Nassau county contended that nothing unlawful was being done, that the authorities were within their rights in granting permission to run the race. The court room was crowded during the entire proceedings by persons interested in them and in the race.

Among those there was William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., who gave the Vanderbilt cup.

LISONJERO WON JOHNSON STAKES

Favorite Took Event in Three Straight Heats.

First Heat of 2:11 Trot Furnished Excitement When Jim Terry and Newton A. Collided, Throwing Driver Anderson From His Sulky.

Lexington, Ky., October 7.—Chief interest at the Grand Circuit meeting today centred in the Johnson stakes, established in 1887, worth $2,000, for 2:24 trotters. It was won in three straight heats by Lisonjero, the favorite. Best time was 2:10¼.

Excitement was furnished in the first heat of the 2:11 trot. Fifteen horses started. At the word Queen Wilkes broke and was left at the wire. Jim Ferry, the favorite, and Newton A. collided at the eighth pole. Driver Anderson, behind Newton A., was thrown from his seat. Newton A. took the pole in a dead run, carrying his driverless sulky and led the bunch by a length around the course.

At the third quarter Patchen Maid began to creep up behind him, finishing under the wire and only a nose behind. Anderson got up uninjured and stopped Newton A. after he had passed the wire. Queen Wilkes was distanced and Newton A. placed fourteenth and Jim Ferry third. In the next heat Newton A. took seventh position and Jim Ferry finished fifth. The race was won in two heats by Patchen Maid.

Only three horses were entered for the 2:04 class pacing and of these Laconda was drawn before the first heat. Nathan Strauss took the first heat in 2:04½. He promised for a while to break the event record, making the first quarter in 31½; half in 1:01, and three-quarters in 1:32, but finished slow. John M. won the next two heats and the race. Track good. Summary:

GEORGIAN WINS IN POOL MATCH

Brumby, of Marietta, May Try for the World's Championship.

St. Louis, Mo., October 7.—By defeating Gilmore today, B. H. Brumby, of Marietta, earned the right to enter the pool tourney for the world's championship.

Arranging Gans-Britt Fight.

San Francisco, October 7.—All that remains at present to clinch the slightest doubt of the match between Joe Gans and Jimmy Britt, is the two fighters or their managers to affix their signatures to the articles. Last night was the time agreed upon for the meeting, but Willie Britt was ill and unable to attend. He send word that next Saturday evening he would be present and would then continue the negotiations. Al Herford, manager of Gans, stated that the Britts terms were agreeable to him and that he was ready for signing.

Not Guilty of Lynching.

Nashville, October 7.—The jury in the case of the state v. Ike Cobb, Doch Hasty, Joseph Toukersky and James F. Hasty, charged with the lynching of Allen Small, a negro, at Lynchburg, Tenn., several months ago, has returned a verdict of not guilty.

Will Have Igorrote Village.

Jackson, Miss., October 7.—(Special.)—It is probable that the now famous Igorrote village at the world's fair in St Louis will be brought to Jackson for the cotton and corn carnival, to be held here in December. Negotiations for the village exhibit are under way, with fair prospects of being consummated.

About Beer

Good malting makes good beer when other things are right. Perfect eight-day malting is what gives our beer its full-flavored richness and aroma. You get real Bohemian hops and the finest barley that grows, and you say, "This is real beer!"

Beer Science

Brewing is a science, and brewing is an art. The science is to make it pure and rich; the art is to blend the ingredients to produce a perfect flavor. There is not a fine turn in the whole art of brewing, but we bring it to perfection in our beer. It is full-flavored and delightful.

Ripe Beer

We mature our beer for months in refrigerating rooms. Before you get it age has taken away every last touch of greenness or immaturity. It is ripe and ready for your palate and stomach; with the true barley-malt flavor— rich, tonic and refreshing.

Rich Beer

You can make good beer only with good barley and hops; and we use the best the earth produces---the finest selected grain and choicest Bohemian hops. Our malt is made by the most perfect process known, and no brewery ever built is more completely equipped than ours. We have everything and do everything to produce a ripe full-flavored perfect beverage---Real beer.

ATLANTA BREWING & ICE CO.

FLORIDA COMES TO MEET TECH

First Game of the Season Will Be Played Today.

GAMES PLAYED TODAY.

Florida State v. Tech in Atlanta.
Tennessee v. Maryville at Knoxville.
Vanderbilt v. Georgetown in Nashville.
Nashville v. Tenn. Meds. in Nashville.
Sewanee v. Mooney in Sewanee.
Alabama v. Clemson in Birmingham.
Virginia v. Cumberland in Charlotte, N. C.
Davidson v. North Carolina in Charlotte.

The football season of the south opens today.

Several other games have been played before, but they were more or less in the nature of practice contests, while today eight leading colleges of this section of the country are represented on the gridiron by teams wearing their colors and carrying their hopes.

From Atlanta as far north as Charlotte the referee's whistle will be heard this afternoon and if the weather is acceptable large crowds are expected to be present in every instance.

Tech is scheduled to open up her football season this afternoon at 4 o'clock at Piedmont park with the team representing the Florida State college located at Tallahassee, Fla.

There has been a tendency of late to confuse Florida State and Florida university. Up to the present time, however, it is Florida university which has met the defeats, while Florida State is, according to the Techs, scheduled to meet her first back set here in Atlanta.

The Tech team is light, but the men are exceedingly fast on their feet, as Heisman's teams have all been for years in the past. The men are beginning to show the effect of the conscientious coaching given them and intend to get in the game today with a rush.

From the line-up it will be seen that several changes have been made since the game with the soldiers. The baseball team is well represented on the football team, as both Day and Butler played baseball.

PEACOCK WINS IN CLOSE GAME

The Peacock eleven was the victor yesterday afternoon in the first game of the season played with another prep team.

The victims in the fight for championship honors were the boys representing the Boy's High School, but the game was closely contested throughout and both victor and vanquished may be proud of the game.

Score: Peacock 10; Boy's High School 7.

The ten points made by the Peacock team came as the result of straight football for two touchdowns, the ball being carried over for the winning points by Left half-back and Captain Leary, who played one of the best games of the afternoon.

Winship and Cowan also played good ball for the Peacock eleven. For the Boy's High School team, McCarty, captain, put up a nice game, while Jones was also listed among those doing good work.

The seven points of the Boy's High School came as the result of one touchdown made after a determined fight, and a touch back.

Both teams showed the effects of the excellent coaching given by A. S. Belling, of the Peacock team, and Mr. Park, of the Boy's High School. Both coaches have played on college teams and have made records for themselves in the days gone by.

TRADE IN COTTON WAS RATHER LIGHT

Ruled Generally Firm, Closing a Best Prices of Session.

LIVERPOOL NEWS BULLISH

Predictions Are for Unsettled Weather Over the Belt—Southwest Continues to Buy—Prominent Bull Also Buying—Closed 14 to 17 Points Up.

WEEKLY CHRONICLE'S REPORT ON WEATHER

The following is The New York Financial Chronicle's weekly weather and crop report received over private leased wire by Messrs. Cothran & Co.::

"New York, October 7.—Our telegraphic advices this evening from the south denote that the weather has been very favorable for outdoor work during the week in almost all localities, and as a result the gathering of cotton has made excellent progress. The movement of the staple to market is on a liberal scale."

New York, October 7.—The cotton market showed a diminishing activity but ruled generally firm, closing at best prices of the session. The opening was firm at an advance of 6 to 12 points in response to higher Liverpool cables than expected. The weather over the south was generally favorable and receipts showed signs of increasing, but after easing off a few points immediately after the call the market was rallied by covering and moderate bull support and before midday had advanced to a net gain of about 15 to 18 points on the active months. Following this there was a slight setback as room longs took profits, but later the market was rallied again to about the best figures of the session and closed very steady within a point or so of the top at a net advance of 14 to 17 points. Sales were estimated at 200,000 bales. It was reported that a prominent New Orleans operator, now headquartered in this city, was buying more or less liberally, and while the south early seemed to be sending selling orders here by wire, houses with southeastern connections were buyers in the late market.

New Orleans Cotton Market.

New Orleans, October 7.—Spot cotton in good demand at full prices. Sales were 5,200 bales, including 2,100 to arrive. Quotations revised, middling fair advanced 5-16c, and lower grades 1-16c.

Futures opened barely steady at an advance of 9 to 12 points. Both official and private cables from the English market were bullish and for a while it looked as if a genuine fever of bull buying was on. The country, however, commenced to take profits and this checked the upward trend. The news from the country was to the effect that farmers still refused to sell their cotton under 10 cents. The weather map was fairly good, but the forecast promised unsettled weather. In the trading December opened 11 points up at 9.84, sold up to 10.05, receded to 9.90 and finally recovered to 10.01. The market closed quiet with net gains of 18 to 21 points.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, October 7.—The dry goods market today has remained quiet and without change in the trend. With the advent of the nearby purchase is a wait, when business in this division of the market is expected to show marked improvement.

Secretary Hester's Cotton Statement.

New Orleans, October 7.—Secretary Hesters weekly New Orleans Cotton Exchange statement issued before the close of business today shows an increase in the movement into sight compared with the 7 days ending this date last year in round figures of 143,000, an increase over the same days year before last of 107,999 and an increase over the same time in 1901 of 117,000.

For the 7 days of October the totals show an increase over last year of 143,000, an increase over the same period year before last of 107,000 and over in the same time in 1901 of 117,000.

For the 37 days of the season that have elapsed the aggregate is ahead of the 37 days of last year 755,000, ahead the same days year before last 213,000 and ahead of 1901 773,000.

The amount brought into sight during the past week has been 529,414 bales, against 386,519 for the 7 days ending this date last year, 422,272 year before last and 412,312 same time in 1901; and for the first 7 days of October it has been 529,414, against 386,519 last year, 422,272 year before last and 412,312 same time in 1901.

The movement since September 1st shows receipts at all United States ports 1,473,247, against 848,221 last year; 1,181,968 year before last and 673,167 same time in 1901; overland across the Mississippi, Ohio and Potomac rivers to northern mills and Canada 236,627, against 7,677 last year; 52,218 year before last and 585,517 same time in 1901; interior stocks in excess of those held at the close of the commercial year 185,885, against 110,996 last year; 218,542 year before last and 183,304 same time in 1901; southern mill takings 209,000, against 169,656 last year, 226,235 year before last and 203,650 same time in 1901.

These make the total movement for the 37 days of the season from September 1st to date 1,891,859, against 1,136,752 last year, 1,678,983 year before last and 1,118,638 same time in 1901.

Foreign export for the week have been 298,839, against 221,984 last year, making the total thus far for the season 976,574, against 465,119 last year, an increase of 551,455.

Northern mill takings and Canada during the past 7 days show an increase of 7,453, as compared with the corresponding period last year, and their total takings since September 1st have increased 6,718.

The total takings of American mills, north, south and Canada, thus far for the season have been 377,159, against 330,595 last year. These include 165,510 by northern spinners, against 166,792.

Stocks at the seaboard and the 29 leading southern centers increased during the week 118,933 bales, against an increase during the corresponding period last season of 64,580 and are now 191,256 greater than at this date in 1903.

Including stocks left over at ports and interior towns from the last crop, and the number of bales brought into sight thus far from the new crop, the supply to date is 2,053,826, against 1,304,551 for the same period last year.

ESTIMATES FOR TOMORROW.

New Orleans expects 13,500 to 14,500 bales, against 5,744 last year; Galveston 18,000 to 21,000, against 16,250 last year; Houston 12,500 to 14,000, against 10,000 last year.

L. J. Anderson & Co.

COTTON—The Liverpool market this morning was better at the opening than was due in the futures department, prices starting about 5 points lower whereas a decline of 7 to 8 points was expected. Spot cotton was in fair demand at a decline of 12 points. Sales, 7,000 bales. Under the influence of the better Liverpool New York opened 6 to 12 points higher, the opening prices being within a few points of the lowest of the session. The weather was favorable and receipts showed some increase. Predictions of colder weather acted as a mild bull stimulant. It was reported the Wall street bear was covering, both in New York and Liverpool. The spot markets presented a firm front, in a good many cases, showing small advances. Farmers are reported holding cotton, being unwilling to sell below 10c. Taken altogether, conditions rather favored the bulls, and the close was very steady, 14 to 17 points higher. Port receipts today 73,093 bales against 43,243 last year. The in sight figures were heavy at 529,414 bales against 386,519 last year.

WHEAT—Influences in wheat were of a decidedly bearish nature today. The opening was unchanged to 1-4c lower on heavy shipments from Australia and lower cables, which caused general liquidation and a weak undertone. Southwestern houses were heavy sellers with professional traders realizing on a heavy scale. The Modern Miller report was bearish and weak cash markets were bear factors. After opening at $1.09⅛ to $1.09¾ December sold off to $1.07, rallied and closed $1.08⅝ to $1.08¾. May opened at $1.09¼ to $1.09¾, sold down to $1.08 and closed at $1.09 to $1.09⅛.

Bradstreet's exports for the week 1,106,000 bushels wheat and flour. Primary receipts 1,235,700 bushels against 1,040,800 last year. Clearances 17,400 bushels wheat and flour.

CORN—Heavy liquidation and fine weather throughout the west resulted in decided weakness in corn. The fear of a bearish government report next Monday was another bearish influence. At the close December was ⅞c lower at 48¾c, after having sold as high as 49½c and 48¼c.

OATS—The decline in oats was only a small fraction, being affected by the weakness in corn. All offerings were readily taken, though selling was comparatively small. December closed at 30¼ to 30⅜, ⅛ to ¼c lower.

PROVISIONS—The product market was steady in the early trading on active buying of lard by shorts. The break in grains caused a slump in prices in the late session, the market closing 17½ to 27½c lower.

Fall River Print Cloth Market.

Fall River, Mass., October 7.—The week's sales in the print cloth market are estimated at about 75,000 pieces. Trading in the cloth market this week has been of light character, and prices are unchanged on a 3 cents basis on regulars. While there is a better demand than the sales would indicate, manufacturers are still averse to disposing of goods at present figures. Besides this, there are many styles which are not agailable on account of the strike, the mills being sold out of these particular makes.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

COTTON—Excepting for a slight demand and improvement therefrom, the market has been dull, with a tendency to work downwards to the figures of yesterday's close. The advance in Liverpool was not repeated and the local short interest bought on the opening, finding, however, an ample supply in the offerings. The accumulation of interior stocks is noticeable and significant, as the pressure upon the spot market must cause a concession in prices. The bull efforts have been abandoned for the time being and crop conditions conditions continue favorable.

BEARS MADE RAID ON WHEAT MARKET

Resulted in Net Loss of Nearly a Cent in Prices.

CASH MARKETS WERE WEAK

Which, With Large Receipts in the Southwest, Started Active Selling, Followed by Profit Taking by Small Longs—Corn Was Extremely Weak.

Chicago, October 7.—A bear raid on the wheat pit today resulted in a net loss of nearly a cent in the price of both the December and May deliveries. Corn is off 7-8c., oats down 1-8@1-4c. and provisions 17 1-2@27 1-2c. lower.

Signs of weakness was manifested in wheat at the opening. Sentiment generally showed an inclination to favor the bear side, due chiefly to a belief that the present liberal rate of wheat deliveries in the northwest was likely to continue for a month or more. Additional incentive to sell was furnished by the weak tone of cables, which was attributable mainly to increased shipments from Argentina. December opened unchanged to 1-4c. lower at $1.09 1-8@1.09 3-8c. and May a shade to 3-8@1-2c. lower at $1.09 1-2 to 1.09 7-8c. Large receipts in the southwest started active selling by houses with southwestern connections followed by profit taking by small longs, who were afraid to hold long lines over the holidays. Buying to cover short sales was not sufficient to absorb offerings, and prices declined. A report by a St. Louis trade journal of complaints in regard to fall sedding brought out additional selling orders. Weak cash markets had a further depressing influence on speculative prices. Before the bottom was reached prices had declined nearly 2c. December to $1.07 and May to $1.08. Late in the day a rally occurred on buying by shorts, December closing at $1.08 1-4@1.08 3-8 and May at $1.09@1.09 1-8. Clearances equalled 17,400 bushels. Exports for the week, according to Bradstreet's, equalled 1,106,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,235,700, against 1,040,800 a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported 927 cars, against 986 last week and 751 a year ago.

Extreme weakness prevailed in corn as a result of continuous liquidation by local traders. Excellent weather and hints of a bearish government crop report were the principal factors in creating the urgent selling pressure. A partial recovery was made late in the day. December opened 1-8@1-2c. lower at 49 1-8@49 1-2c., declined to 48 1-4c. and closed at 48 3-4c. Receipts 96 cars, three contract.

Oats showed only a slight decline. Selling was light and offerings were readily taken. December opened a shade to 1-8c. lower at 30 3-8@30 1-2c., sold between 30 1-8@30 1-2c.; closing at 30 1-4@30 3-8c. Receipts 126 cars.

Provisions were affected by the break in grain prices, the market becoming weak during the latter part of the session, January closed down 25@27 1-2c. at $13.02 1-2; lard 12 1-2c. lower at $7.47 1-2 and ribs down 15c. at $6.75.

COTTON—The cotton future market was rather quiet Friday, but generally the market displayed a rather steady tone. The opening was steady with first prices 6@12 points higher. This was a fair response to the improvement in the English market, which came rather unexpected. However, there was quite a bit of selling on the opening advance. The weather conditions were favorable for the most part, and the general movement appeared to be increasing again. Some of the selling of a few days ago turned buyers and the support from this source had the effect of creating a better feeling. The trade, as a whole, was only moderately active among the professionals, and some of the outsiders were disposed to hold off in view of conflicting reports from certain sections in the south with regard to the condition of the weather and the crdop. The spot markets were steady, but in a few instances an improved demand was indicated. Consumers, it was argued, would eventually come into the market for big supplies, and, under the circumstances, some of the farmers were said to be holding cotton back. The port receipts were figured at 56,000, against 68,710 last week and 43,712 last year and for the week they were figured at 388,00, as against 150,000 last week.

WHEAT—The wheat market was weak Friday, and there was considerable selling by local longs. The improved crop estimates, the Snow report figuring on a crop of 550,000,000, being an especial feature, served to create fear among outside longs, and commission house interests sold considerable stuff. Southwestern houses were heavy sellers, and there was less active buying in the northwest by milling interests. The cables were a disappointment to holders and the Argentina shipments were greater than expected. The excess of shipments from South America thus far this year over the corresponding period of last year confirmed the belief that some of the European requirements have been prtty well satisfied. There was some support on the lower levels, but in view of the holiday tomorrow, followed so closely by a monthly government report, there was a disposition in many quarters to hold off, and under the circumstances scalping operations were indulged in among the professionals.

CORN—There was a rather easy feeling in the corn pit. Continued good weather throughout the corn belt suggested the probability that the government report Monday would make a very bearish showing, and under the circumstances there were many willing sellers. It was evident that the amount of corn exposed to frost damage is very small at this time, and consequently it was figured that the Jones and Hill estimates would be materially exceeded by the government observations. MONEY ADVANCED ABOVE 2 PER CENT

Increased a Growing Disposition To Take Profits in Stocks.

THE MARKET WAS TOP HEAVY

After Considerable Early Strength in the Early Session, Prices Declined and But Little Was Left of the Day's Gain at the Close.

New York, October 7.—The salient fact in today's stock market was that prices did not go down, as many persons were led to expect by the action of the late market yesterday. There was a momentary irregularity early today, but nothing like the break that the bears had pictured to themselves as a result of a decisive downward turn with its uncovering of stop loss orders and rush to take profits. The positive pressure on the market proved insignificant and the bears retreated and covered their shorts. A fairly comprehensive advance in prices followed. In the list of strong stocks were found representatives of about all the principal groups of stocks. Reading continued conspicuous in continuation of yesterday's advance. There was very heavy buying of Erie, and Ontario and Western moved up in sympathy. The movement in Amalgamated Copper was directly attributable to the active demand for copper both here and in Europe. The advance in some of the other industrials semed to be due indirectly to sympathy with the movement in Amalgamated Copper, and especially that in Sugar. St. Paul recovered sharply from yesterday's break without renewal of the rumors regarding a Northern Securities settlement.

The money market today was little affected beyond a rise above 2 per cent in the call money rate. This increased a growing disposition to take profits and prices slipped off easily in the final hour, with little left of the day's gains at the close.

Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value, $3,215,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Money on call firm at 2 1-2, closing bid at 2 1-4; offered at 2 1-2; time loans steady; sixty days 3 per cent; ninety days 3 1-4; six months 3 1-2@3 3-4; prime mercantile paper 4 1-2@5 per cent.

Miller & Co.

COTTON—Liverpool advices continue bullish and spinners are reported to be actively buying. Sales, however, being kept within moderate bounds, owing to the small supply available in Liverpool. It must be remembered that only a very small amount of cotton has so far reached the other side, but as soon as the supply abroad shall be ample, it is expected that spinners' purchases will be very large. Instead of the decline of 8 points, which Liverpool was expected to show this morning, the close there is only one lower than last night. Our market has been steady throughout, without any attempt at sensational improvements. It is evident that future markets are disposed to follow spots closely, and it is needless to say that so long as they work together in such a groove, the situation is a very healthy one. Advices from the south continues to report good spot demand at full prices. One of the favorable features of the present quiet steadiness is the probable effect on the dry goods market. All that the goods trade needs is a stable value for raw cotton, and if this should be maintained for a little time, prices of goods would adjust themselves promptly and spinners would buy their supplies freely. The consuming public is not in any distress and is able to absorb a large crop. All that is needed is some stable basis to work on, which will permit mills to manufacture at a profit. Our Liverpool cables this morning stated that the leading New York bear was a heavy buyer in that market, and from the operations of certain brokers here this morning, we believe that he and other local bears have covered shorts and are now disposed to help along advance. Liverpool is due to come 3 higher tomorrow morning.

WHEAT—There was no halt in the wheat decline today. Liquidation by tired holders was the feature. With the decline in the values of futures the milling demand has fallen off and cash premiums have suffered in consequence, though cash values are still above the futures. The northwestern stocks increased nearly two millions for the week, which is considerably in excess of the gain for the same period a year ago.

CORN—Corn was even weaker than yesterday. Trade large and selling pressure great. This pressure comes not only from the liquidation of speculative holders, but also from the hedging sales against the increasing purchases of new corn in the country. The producer is apparently selling more freely on the decline. There is no demand from any quarter to counteract the effect of this movement.

OATS—Oats on the whole were firm, declining fractionally in sympathy with the weakness in other cereals. Provision operators bought freely on the May all day.

PROVISIONS—The market was a shade lower all around, with periods of excellent buying of lard by the packing interests conspicuous on the bull side. Estimated tomorrow 11,000.

Southern Exchange.

COTTON—Although Liverpool prices were 8 to 11 points lower, our market opened steady at an advance of from 7 to 12 points. Prices eased off somewhat after the opening on profit taking, but offerings became scant on the decline and under the buying by belated shorts the market strengthened and the loss was recovered. The south bought freely of December and January, as did a prominent house who usually acts for a powerful Wall street clique. The reports of very cold weather in the south, together with the reported damage by the overflow of the Pecos river in Texas, stimulated buying and was instrumental in driving the shorts to cover. Spinners bought moderately this morning and foreign buying was in evidence again today. The expectation of the trade is for an into sight movement of 560,000. We still consider the present prices of cotton too low in proportion to the demand existing for cotton goods at present and think a price of 11 cents is easily justifiable. Farmers throughout the south refuse to sell at present prices, and the refusal to part with the crop at the current figures will have a tendency to restrict the interior movement, and with the good demand from Europe we think cotton should be purchased at once. It will be in great demand before long.

WHEAT—The market opened weak and nervous on the lower cables from abroad and generally favorable weather throughout the wheat belt, and suffered a further loss on the heavy offerings and the indifferent tone of the foreign market. The receipts were heavy and predictions of further big increase in the visible supply, coupled with the larger crop estimates, made buyers timid and resulted in heavy selling throughout the list.

CORN was weak and lower with wheat, generally higher temperatures, and on the selling of long stuff on exhausted margins, catching of loss orders and reports of large crop estimates.

OATS were quiet and about steady. The markets rallied from the low points of the morning on covering and some buying stimulated by predictions of rain throughout the wheat and corn belts for tomorrow. The tone continued nervous, however, and owing to the holiday tomorrow, trading was confined to narrow limits and represented an evening process by the traders who were indisposed to remain long or short over Saturday and Sunday.

Taking of American Cotton by World's Spinners.

New Orleans, October 7.—Secretary Hester gives the takings of American cotton by spinners throughout the world as follows, in round numbers:

This week 190,000 this year, against 135,000 last year and 260,000 year before last.

Total since September 1, this year 734,000, against 545,000 last year, and 822,000 the year before.

Of this northern spinners and Canada took 165,000 bales this year, against 157,000 last year and 169,000 the year before; southern spinners 212,000 against 174,000 last year, and 229,000 the year before; and foreign spinners 357,000 against 214,000 last year, and 424,000 this year before.

World's Visible Supply of Cotton.

New Orleans, October 7.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton made up from special cable and telegraphic advices compares the figures of this week with last week, last year and the year before.

It shows an increase for the week just closed of 328,938 against an increase of 239,565 last year and an increase of 169,005 year before last.

The total visible is 2,142,432 against 1,813,494 last week, 1,616,477 last year and 2,084,073 year before last.

Of this the total of American cotton is 1,627,432 against 1,287,494 last week, 1,109,477 last year and 1,635,073 year before last, and of all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 515,000, against 526,000 last week, 507,000 last year and 449,000 year before last.

The total world's visible supply of cotton as above shows an increase compared with last week of 328,938, an increase compared with last year of 525,955 and an increase compared with year before last of 58,359.

Of the world's visible supply of cotton, as above, there is now afloat and held in Great Britain and continental Europe 1,132,000 against 771,000 last year and 1,048,000 year before last; in Egypt 61,000, against 36,000 last year and 55,000 year before last; in India 240,000, against 242,000 last year and 218,000 year before last; and in the United States 709,000 against 567,000 last year and 763,000 year before last.

TRADE SITUATION.

TeAd-m atePaKGw landgvidshrd shr a New York, October 7.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"Popular estimates of the leading crop yields continued to enlarge. Corn has passed out of danger of serious frost damage in the west and distribution expands as cooler weather approaches. Additional favorable features are the continuance of the good tone in pig iron, fair buying by railroads of materials and heavy crop movement, helping collections north and south. While the buying of dy goods, hardware, groceries, shoes and clothing continued in heavy volume, conservative interests find reflection in small but frequent orders, calculated to meet necessities. The transportation movement is heavy, and railway earnings show an expanding tendency, the gain for September promising to be over 1903. There are some flaws in the situation, which stamp this as an year when compared with previous periods of great prosperity. Relatively most activity in current distribution, whether of dry goods, shoes, clothing, lumber, hardware or building material, exists in the west and northwest. Cooler weather is needed in the south to stimulate retail activity. In the east, business is not so active in industrial centers, which have felt the pinch of the spring and summer depression in building or in textile industry. Some eastern industries, like machinery and tool markets, jewelry and silverware manufacturing, are looking up, however. The coal trade shows little improvement. The eastern shoe trade has its machinery pretty well employed on fall goods, but as shipments are 8 per cent less than a year ago for the season, there is little to be said than that this an off year in trade. Leather is firm and high and is strongly held.

"Business failures in the United States for month ending Septemger 30 number 195, against 189 last month and 197 last year. In Canada failures for the week number 19, as against 21 last week and 19 a year ago.

"Wheat, including flour, exports for the week aggregate 1,106,926 bushels, against 1,182,293 last week and 2,378,722 a year ago. From July 1 to date the exports aggregate 18,548,711 bushels, against 42,676,164 last year.

"Corn exports for the week aggregate 852,811 bushels, against 700,862 last week and 1,101,118 a year ago. From July 1 to date the exports of corn aggregate 8,190,342, against 13,830,249 in 1903.

Dun's Review.

New York, October 7.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade tomorrow will say:

"With the crops almost beyond danger, prices of securities at the highest point since May, 1903, and idle machinery resuming at many factories and mills that have been closed for months, the business outlook grows steadily brighter. By far the best feature of the situation is the confidence manifested by an increased disposition to provide for future requirements. This is by no means general, but it is noticed at pig iron furnaces, woolen mills and among dealers at widely separated points, particularly those located in the agricultural sections. Mercantile collections are also more prompt, and railway earnings for the month of September were 3.8 per cent larger than in the same month last year, while foreign commerce at this port for the last week shows increases of $1,651,208 in imports and $410,748 in exports as compared with a year ago. Dispatches from the leading cities are almost unanimous in telling of improved conditions.

"For the first time in many months it is possible to report that sellers of pig iron appear to have a slight advantage. They have been able to dictate terms as to delivery in some cases and at the south, where the miners' strike is still in progress, only part of the orders were filled.

It is difficult to find evidence of increased movement in steel, although a fair tonnage was taken by the railroads. Wire mills will not accept contracts for distant delivery n account of a growing belief that better terms will be secured in the near future. Pipe is quiet and structural shapes are not eagerly sought, but merchant steel is active. Actual business in finished steel is still restricted, but the improvement in sentiment is unmistakable. Export trade is also promising. Coke ovens are resuming, and the current movement is heavy, but prices are too low to make long term contracts attractive to producers. Soft coal also feels the stimulus of increased activity at manufacturing plants.

"Hides have shown unusual activity at a generally higher level of prices, and the leather market is also in a better position. Footwear factories report a large demand for quick shipment of fall shoes.

"A little better demand appeared in primary markets for cotton goods, but it was checked later in the week when manufacturers failed to make concessions.

"Duplicate orders for men's wear woolens and worsteds are also coming to mills which are busy making deliveries on old contracts.

Failures this week in the United States are 222 against 223 last week and 239 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 25 against 18 last week and 17 last year."

The Liverpool Grain Market.

with nauseating pills. Mozley's Lemon Elixir (made of lemons), is a delightful laxative and acts gently. Sold by all druggists.

Expecting Heavy Draft.

Jackson, Miss., October 7.—(Special.)—Chairman Cortelyou's secret agent has not yet invaded Mississippi for the purpose of assessing republican officeholders to aid the campaign fund, but his arrival is expected, and quite a number of officeholders have already sent in their contributions in order to escape heavy drafts.

Negro Church Nailed Up.

Spartanburg, S. C., October 7.—(Special.)—Macedonia Baptist church, colored, was nailed up, doors and windows, yesterday by the anti-Evans faction, who desire to oust Evans, the pastor. This faction proposes to keep out the Evans followers. The latter have started an action in court against several of the anti-Evans faction for breaking up a table in a row at the church.
